

Hoodlums Tie Up Mokena Brewery Watchman And Steal Barrels

The C. A. Mitchell Brewery at Mokena was robbed of $1000 worth of cooerage Tuesday mid-night by gangsters.

Clifford White and John Schenkel were watchman at the plant which is being remodeled from a dairy plant into a brewery. Several openings in the building made entrance easy.

It was past mid-night when White saw two men in the plant. They inquired for Mr. Mitchell and then pulled guns, covering White and tied him up, a few minutes later when Schenkel came on the scene they did the same thing to him.

One of the hoodlums was left to guard the two watchmen so they could not get loose and give an alarm. The rest of the hoodlum gang who had a truck, backed it up to the store room of the brewery and loaded up empty beer barrels. They hauled away the load and came back in about an hour and a half for the second load, when they pulled out the hoodlum who had been guarding the watchmen, joined the rest of the hoodlum gang and left.

Schenkel worked himself loose and then freed White. The holdup was reported to the Sheriff's office, but no trace was found of the gang.

Half beer barrels, the size solen, are scarce and are worth from $6 to $10 apiece.

The brewery had just received a big shipment of these barrels a few days before.

ORLAND LEGION POST WILL HOLD SERVICE

The Orland Park Legion Post is planning to put on a Memorial Day program at the Orland Park cemetery next Tuesday morning at 10 a. m. There will be singing, speaking, and a march to the Cooper and the Palos Park cemeteries where the soldiers graves will be decorated.

Lincoln Estates To Have Dance Hall

Plans and work are well under way in the remodeling of the large barn on Mr. Stoy's place in the Lincoln Estates. Lumber and other material is being furnished by the New Lenox Lumber and Hardware Co., of New Lenox. When remodeled the barn will accommodate approximately 250 people. None of the original appearance of the interior will be changed as this is intended to lend color to and inspire the desire for old time dances as well as the more modern jazz varieties.

The Barn Dance Hall on Mr. Stoy's estate is about two miles east of Frankfort on the Lincoln Highway and about 500 feet south of the Highway on the road leading thru a grove of trees. There is plenty of parking space available.

The members of Wm. Martin Post No. 725 hope to entertain dancers here as often as possible, as well as provide entertainment of other kinds. There will be bunco parties by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S., of Lincoln Estates; on Sunday afternoons and evenings there will be chicken dinners and evening dances; outdoor picnics, etc. It is estimated that everyone who attends shall have a good time.

At the regular Saturday night dances there will be refreshments, etc. Admission will be charged to meet the ability of all to pay who care to dance and have a good time. So come on you square dancers if you want to strut your stuff.

The veterans earnestly urge the co operation of all their old friends in helping them to put this affair over big and cordially invite new friends to come out and meet the bunch for a barrel of fun.

The opening dance will be held on June 3rd at 8 p. m. standard time.

New Policy At The Oaks

Beginning, Wednesday May 24th the manager of the Oaks, Frank G. King wishes to announce there will be dancing every Wednesday, Saturday, and Sunday evenings. The price of admission for gentlemen will be 25 cents each night. Ladies admitted free at all times. No other charge. This includes wardrobe and free parking for 1500 cars. Come out and get acquainted and make The Oaks your favorite dance spot. Dancing 8:30 p. m., till closing.

Remodel Orland Village Hall

The Orland Park village hall is being remodeled to provide headquarters for the fire department and the fire truck.

The remodeling job has been awarded to Davidson and Doctor for $345.

The fire department is standing part of this cost and the village the balance.

TINLEY LEGION TO DECORATE SOLDIERS GRAVES

The Tinley Park Legion Post and Auxiliary members will meet at the Legion Hall on Memorial Day at 8:30 a. m. The various cemeteries allotted to them will be visited and services conducted the same as in previous years. At 2 p. m., they will assemble on 175th street in front of Past Commander Wallin's home for the parade. The line of march will proceed east on 175th to Ridgeland and north on Ridgeland as far as Bert Fulton's. The Tinley Park band will furnish the music and also the Blue Island Legion Post drum and bugle corp. All organizations desiring to participate kindly communicate with Charles Wallin immediately. The final ceremonies will be held at Zion Lutheran cemetery right after the parade. Rev. Albert Buddenhagen of the Zion Lutheran church will deliver the principal address of the day.

Hold Closing Exercises at Ann Rutledge School

The Ann Rutledge school closed its first school year on Friday, May 19. A splendid buffet dinner was served at noon and there was much pleasure and excitement when each one present both young and old, marched around the table and picked up his own dinner. Mr. Elphick at the piano kept the children singing while the table was being prepared. After dinner the school newspaper was read by the different children creating much excitement, especially the report of the advertising editor, Loretta Moden. Mary Rose Stoy recited the Presidents from Washington to F. D. Roosevelt. The first and second grade children recited the nursery rhymes learned from their school readers, and the applause went to Kenneth Johnson for the manner in which he recited "Peter Piper". After the exercises the children had their pictures taken with their teacher, Mrs. George Walker. Last of all there was an exciting ball game between the pupils and their fathers, resulting in a victory for the latter 16 to 12. The boys still believe that if a few more innings had been played they would have won.

Orland Village Hall Being Painted

The Orland Park village board is having the village hall and pumping station repaired. Bids for painting these buildings must be in by June 1st in the office of the village clerk.

Further particulars regarding this work can be secured from the village clerk.

Orville Schmadeke Now Associated Hirsch Bros.

Orville Schmadeke is the representative now for Hirsch Brothers funeral directors who conduct the West End Funeral Home in Chicago Heights.

Mr. Schmadeke and the firm he represents are both well and widely known.

400 Attend Opening Dance at Mokena

The opening dance of the Mokena Men's club held last Saturday night drew a crowd of 400 persons.

The weather was ideal and the music was excellent.

This is the 25th year that the club has been holding summer dances.

There will be dancing every Saturday night. Lou Mork and his Buccaneers will play again this coming Saturday night.

Echoes from The Past

Married—At the home of the bride's mother near here, Wednesday, October 25th, 1893, Rev. C. Schaub officiating, Miss Louise Krapp to Mr. Wm. Folkers, of Frankfort. The happy couple left the same evening for a visit to the World's Fair, Chicago and an extended trip in the east on which they will be gone for perhaps more than a week after which they will make their future home in Frankfort. Both the bride and the groom of this worthy couple are so well known here that they need no further introduction. The bride has many graces, both of the head and heart, which endear her to all who know her. The groom has all of the native elements of manhood, honesty, uprightness and industry and will make life a success. The Advertiser, joins with a host of friends in heartily wishing them a pleasant journey through life.

—The Advertiser, Oct. 31, 1893.

—On last Wednesday occurred the marriage of Miss Jessie McGovney to Mr. Henry Vosburg of Maywood, Ill. The bride is one of Mokena's popular belles and Mr. Vosburg is to be congratulated on the prize he has won. Mrs. Vosburg will be much missed in social circles here. She has enjoyed the highest esteem of all her acquaintances, who unite in wishing her and her husband an abundance of the best things which life affords. The groom is an expert mechanic and is highly respected in his own community and has made a favorable impression in his acquaintanceship here. The happy couple will make their home in Maywood.

—The Advertiser, Nov. 18, 1893

Tinley Wins Double Header As Ball Season Opens

Tinley Park's new baseball team opened the season last Sunday with a bang, winning both ends of a double header, 10 to 0 and 10 to 1.

The first game was taken from Goessville, and showed a lot of strength that was not looked for. Gotham's pitching was a surprise and he never was in danger of being scored upon. All of the team showed strength at bat. Seven runs were scored in the first inning and from then on it was just a breeze for Tinley.

The second game was played with Lincoln Estates and was also easily won. Guindon's pitching was unbeatable. He allowed only two hits and was air tight in the pinches. He struck out five of the first six men to face him and contributed three hits to help his team win. Tinley should be justly proud of their new team and all the town should turn out and support them.

Next Sunday they play the Keystones, a fast team from Chicago and it promises to be a very good game. Lets all come out and give the team our support.

Any club wishing to book games with the Tinley team should get in touch with Ossie Lehman, the team manager.

Tinley Legion to Celebrate July 4th

The Tinley Park Post No. 615 American Legion is planning to make July 4th a gala day to be remembered for many years. Elaborate preparations are under way and from all reports a big time is in store for both old and young.

Saenger Hall and the Linden Garden have been leased for the day and will be the site of the festivities. Mr. George Lorenz, the genial proprietor of Saenger Hall is preparing the hall for the occasion by painting and redecorating the place and it will be a beautiful place to see when finished.

Start making your preparations now to be the guests of the Tinley Park Post of the American Legion on July 4th. Further details will be published from time to time.

Have You Sent Anything to St. John's Melting Pot?

The "Melting Pot" campaign at the St. John Evangelical church is still on and the call is being made for old gold, silver or antiques of various kinds as enumerated in last week's article. The response to the needs of the "Melting Pot" have been fairly good, but much more is needed to make the campaign the success which it should be. The campaign is for the benefit of the church.

Greater Than The Fabled Romance of Cinderella! The Astonishing Career of a White Slave Geisha Girl Who Became a Countess Told in The American Weekly. The Magazine Distributed With NEXT SUNDAY'S CHICAGO HERALD EXAMINER.

CLEAN MOKENA WATER TOWER
The Mokena water department has had a concrete curbing made over the well top to prevent surface water from flowing into the well. The water tower was also cleaned and the water was shut off Thursday afternoon until the work was finished.

FRANKFORT TO HOLD ANNUAL CELEBRATION

Frankfort will observe Memorial Day with their annual program.

A line of march will form at the school grounds at 2 p. m. daylight saving time and proceed to Pleasant Hill cemetery where the soldiers graves will be decorated.

Following the exercises at the cemetery, a program will be given at the school grounds. There will be good music and good speakers.

Refreshments will be served on the school grounds.

Everybody is invited to attend these exercises.

Tinley Park Band to Hold Dance, May 30

The Tinley Park band will hold a dance Decoration Day May 30th at 8 o'clock in the Community Hall in Tinley Park. There will be a small admission fee. The public is cordially invited. Your support to help the band will be greatly appreciated by members of the Band. The band will also take part in the Memorial parade.

Orland Park M. E. Pastor Writes of Laity Services

Pastor's Appreciation.

What a shame for any to die with the music in them still unexpressed! And running parallel with that tragedy is the over-worked condition of any one person in the church. Hence, our two lay-services. The church should be filled with its members and those brought there thru the instrumentality of the members. Through these two services, our church has become a place where lay women and lay men may live in an experience and expression of Christian brotherhood, for no one can work side by side with another in the same cause without discovering new understandings in brotherhood. These last two weeks have raised me to the place where I can say with Timothy Standby: "O, Laban, things is just fine! With the women a-moovin' and the men a-helping and everybody a-pulling, this world's good enuff place for me fer a while longer."

Appreciation of Personality

The church is the form for spreading religious teaching. Through its bell, its music, its words, it is advertising the type of commodity to be had within its walls. Religion is a commodity of the heart which everybody needs. Therefore the church, the exclusive exponent of religion, should take such steps as will bring more men and women in touch with the Almighty. The church has a heavy task, whether it concerns itself primarily with the individual or with society. For, as there can be no individuals apart from the social group, so there can be no society apart from individuals. One of the early acts of Christ was to select a group of individuals, even though He had a social program in mind for them. One of the glories of the religion of Jesus is that it is a "champion of personality." Upon our awakening to the possibilities of personality we affirm our wealth and the future condition of the church in our midst. In affirming the world to be a personal world, all life has its distinctive and its universal function. The index of the spiritual proficiency of our group is found when we discover individuals in the midst of groups. People is a collective being, a generalization, but personality is something concrete.

God's Appreciation.

Sooner or later we have to determine whether life to us is to be a holiday excursion or a great crusade. Upon that decision hangs our destiny. In Jesus we see life to be an action, not an inaction, and through him men see the worth and joy of living. They lend themselves to the utmost of activity in every sphere because of His activity. Nor will God forget your words. He never forgets and His appreciation is marked by many an inward and hidden sign. Nor will He tarry in His recompense. By many a whispered word and many a silent token, He evidences His approbation and makes strong our hearts to labor again. His final "well done", is simply the summing up of a long series of encouragements. When He said "Moses my servant", He spoke with pride in the possession indicated by the pronoun. To be claimed as His servant clothes each layman with a dignity that can never be diminished.

Sales and Service on all Standard Makes of Auto Radios, Refrigerators, Washing Machines, Vacuum Cleaners.
HARRY W. BETTENHAUSEN
13021 So. Western Ave. Blue Island
Open Evenings Ph. B. I. 2252

Orland Band Has Disbanded

The Orland Park Community band which has been in existence for three years, disbanded last Thursday night. Lack of players and the stress of the times contributed to the cause of the band being disbanded.

It is with deep regret that the community sees the passing of the band which was a valuable asset to the community.

The young folks did remarkably well in the brief time they were playing, but when some of the best players dropped out and no new material was available, it was impossible to continue the organization with the entire load resting on a few workers. It is hoped that in some manner the band may be revived again later on.

NEW LENOX TO HONOR SOLDIER DEAD

Memorial Day services will be held Tuesday morning at 10 a. m., daylight saving time, in the New Lenox M. E. church. Wm. Drake, world war veteran, will be the master of ceremonies, and Edward Marshall will act as marshal of the day. An ex-soldier from the American Legion headquarters in Joliet will deliver the address. Music will be furnished by a mixed quartet from Marley and the Sacred Choral Society. Soldiers roll call will be read by Mrs. Margaret Papke.

After the service, a line of march will be formed at the church led by the world war veterans, followed by the school children, who will be in charge of Mrs. Mera Sievert and Mrs. Bess Bush.

Flags and flowers will be placed on the soldiers graves in Maplewood cemetery. The Rev. John Dingle, pastor of the local Methodist church, will deliver the address at the cenotaph in memory of the unknown soldiers. Guy Knickerbocker will fire the salute and taps will be sounded by Clarence Urech. At the close of the ceremony, a delegation will decorate the soldiers graves in Marshall cemetery.

Orland Defeats Lockport

The St. Michael A. C. team of Orland Park defeated the Lockport Sox last Sunday 17 to 2 at Orland Park. The Lockport team called the game off in the 7th inning.

This coming Sunday the St. Michael A. C. will play the Chicago Cardinals. This promises to be an interesting and tight game.

Mokena Boy Catches White Crow

While Ray Montgomery of Mokena and a friend were in the woods south of Mokena Tuesday afternoon they caught a snow white crow. The bird was a young one and was like his black brethren in all other ways. He was taken alive and has been on exhibition.

J. V. Hall, Mokena Open Stand Saturday

J. V. Hall will open his lunchroom and filling station on Wolf road to the north of Mokena Saturday, May 27th. He will serve chicken dinners.

Frankfort Grove Opens May 30

The Frankfort dance grove on Route 51, will open Decoration day evening. Music by Habberkorn from Richlin. Everyone invited.

MOKENA TO HOLD MEMORIAL DAY PROGRAM

Mokena will have a Memorial Day celebration next Tuesday morning. A program will be held at 10 o'clock standard time in the auditorium of the Mokena public school.

There will be songs by the school children, by the audience and other numbers.

Rev. Mr. Hoffman of Joliet will be the speaker. Members of the William Martin Post of Veterans of Foreign Wars will take part in the celebration.

W. E. McCleery, principal of the Mokena school will be the presiding chairman. Rev. E. J. Moritz will offer the invocation and benediction.

Following the exercises at the school, the children will decorate the veterans graves in the St. Mary cemetery, the old cemetery on Wolf Road where a soldier of the Revolutionary war and of the Civil war are buried, and in the St. John cemetery.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars will have a special service for Wm. Martin in the St. Mary cemetery and will erect a marker place a wreath on his grave. Don C. Hall, Jr., will sound taps at the various graves.

Everyone is invited to attend these exercises in the school and at the cemeteries.

This memorial observance is being sponsored by the The News-Bulletin in conjunction with the Lincoln Estates Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. This Post will also raise a flag at the St. John cemetery.

Mokena School Supt., Tenders Resignation

W. E. McCleery, Superintendent of the Mokena Public School for the past three years, has resigned his position in order that he may accept the position of superintendent of schools at Leland, Illinois.

The rest of the staff of teachers of the Mokena school have been re-engaged for another term.

Mokena to Play Joliet Bruins May 30

The Mokena Aces are planning for a fast baseball game on Memorial day afternoon when they play the crack Joliet Bruins on the Schiek diamond north of Mokena. All the fans are urged to attend and help support the young ball team of Mokena. Game called at 2 o'clock standard time. Come out and boost.

To Hold Recital In Tinley School

Misses Louise Snodgrass and Genevieve Wert will present their piano and violin pupils in a joint recital at the Tinley Park school, Sunday, May 28th at 3 o'clock daylight saving time. The guest soloist will be Miss Mildred Jaems, vocalist of Blue Island. You and your friends are cordially invited.

Mokena Represented At World's Fair

Mokena is being represented at the Chicago World's Fair by Don C. Hall who is connected with the exhibit known as "The Days of 49" depicting scenes of a minino camp during the gold rush days. After the exhibit at the World's Fair, the cast will enter the movies.

Mr. Hall is at the Fair now ready for the opening day Saturday.

Memorial Day

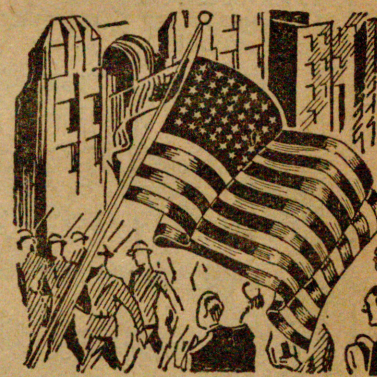

They Died So That Freedom Might Live and Peace and Justice prevail.

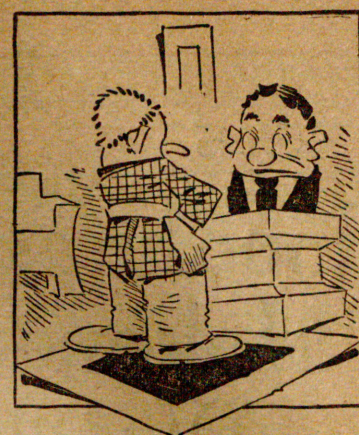

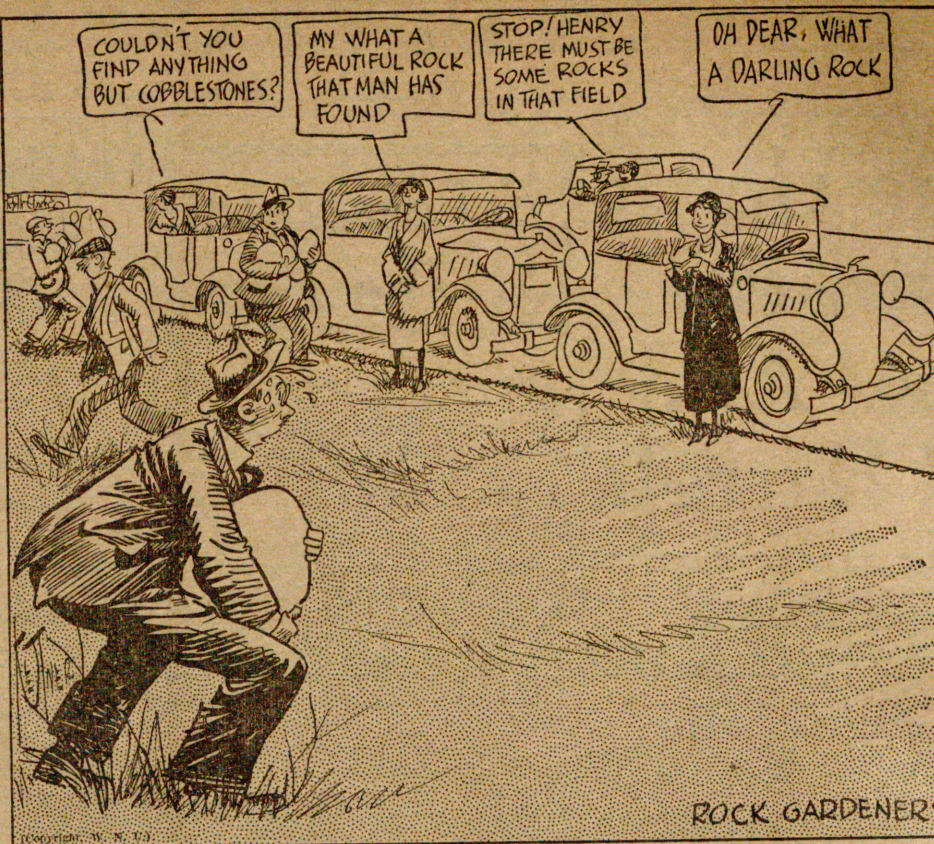

Their Spirit Directs Our Hearts to Keep Faith With Their Buddies.

Let's Not Forget!

Orland State Bank

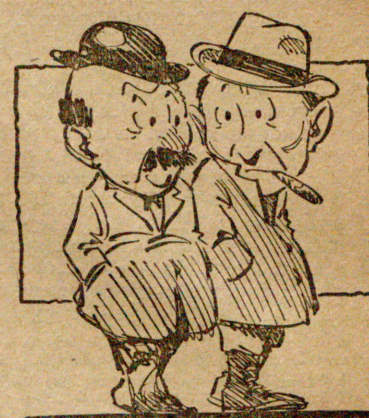

A ROLL OF HONOR BANK Telephone Orland Park 61

Boss—Above or beneath.

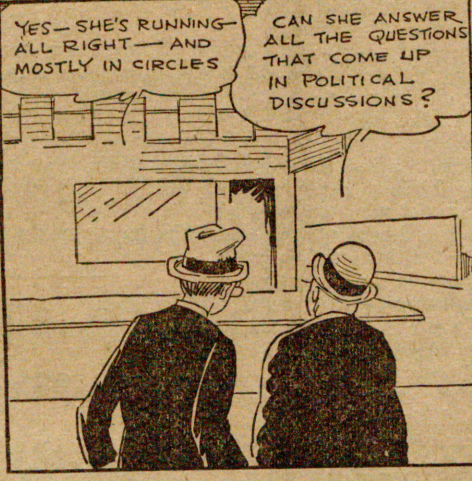

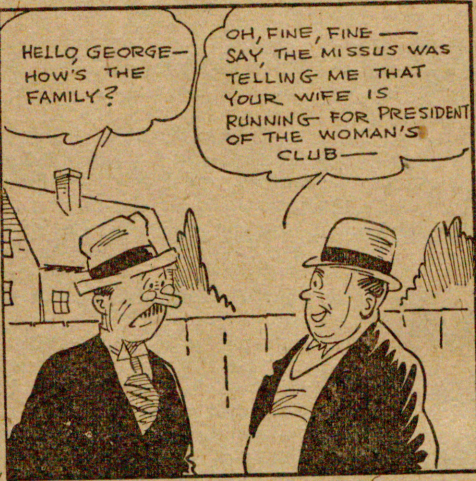

THAT, TOO

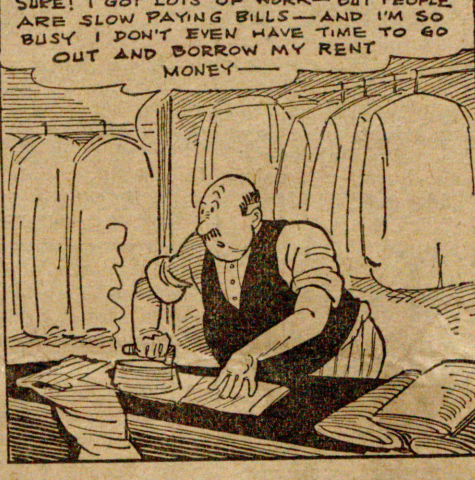

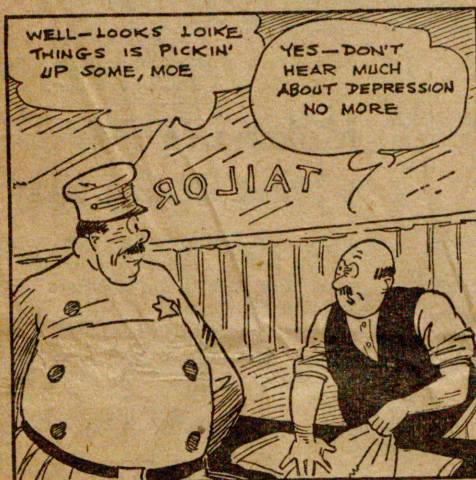

"You should practice self-denial. Whenever anything costs me more than it should, I do without it."

"How about the excessive cost of living?"

By Osborne
Western Newspaper Union

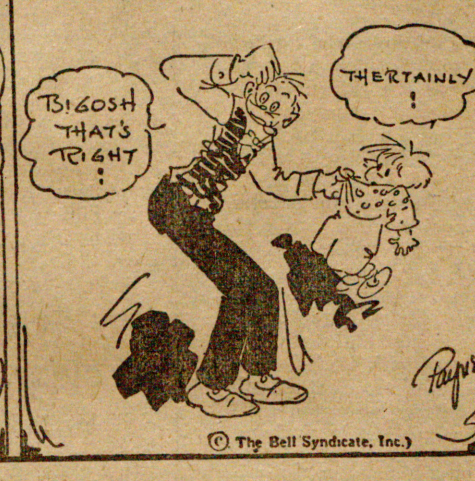

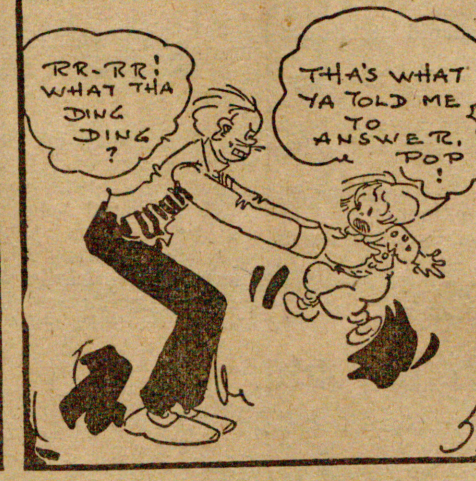

By Ted O'Loughlin
© Western Newspaper Union

JUST LAZINESS
OI
CALLS
IT

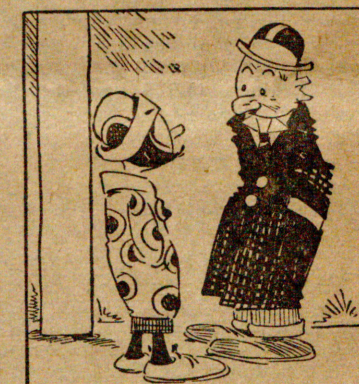

By C. M. PAYNE

I hate to be advised too much
Although I make a lot of breaks.
I'm living for experience —
I have a right to my mistakes

GOOD GUESSER

Miss Simperly—An awfully handsome man knelt at my feet for over an hour today.

Mr. Hardfax—I gotcha. Trying on shoes, and I'll bet it was tougher on the shoe clerk than it was on you.

MODERN BUSINESS

"So you and Fred are really engaged, are you?"

"Yes, we have decided to enter into a life partnership."

"And just think of it, Fred will be the silent partner, isn't that just too lovely."

NEAR GUESS

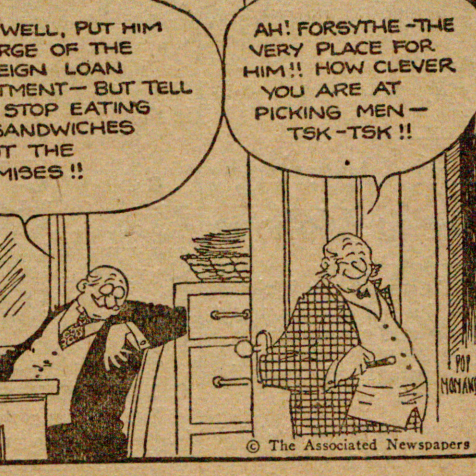

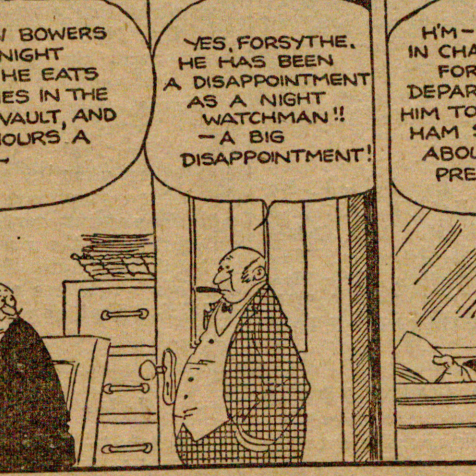

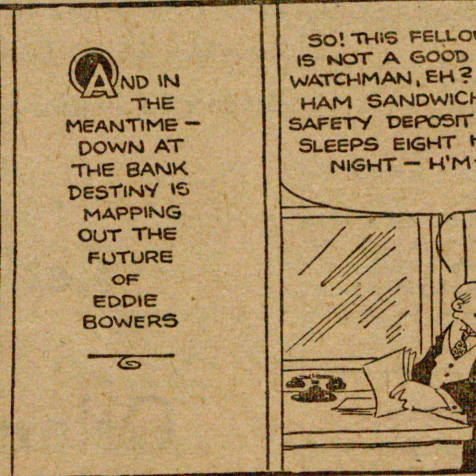

First Tramp—Say, Bill, what is a pedigree?
Second Tramp—Same as hydrophoby.
First Tramp—Hydrophoby—no! You're way off.
Second Tramp—Well, it's something dogs have anyway.

By GEORGE STORM

Ability Is Recognized

The MAY DAY MYSTERY

By Octavus Roy Cohen

Copyright by Octavus Roy Cohen

W. N. U. SERVICE

SYNOPSIS

Antoinette Peyton, senior at the University of Maryland, resents Paterson Thayer's attentions to Ivy Welch, seventeen-year-old coed, and there is a stormy scene, the tension being increased by Max Vernon, another student, reproaching Ivy for "breaking a date" with him. Thayer and Vernon threaten each other. Prof. Larry Welch, Ivy's brother, is appealed to by Tony to end his sister's friendship with Thayer. Welch and Tony are in love. Tony tells him she is married to Thayer, but is his wife only in name. Larry determines to end Thayer's association with Ivy. Tony persuades him to wait until she has appealed to her husband. She visits him at a fraternity house. Vernon, soon after her departure, leaves the house, excited. Welch goes to Thayer, and after he leaves, Carmicino, frat house janitor, finds Thayer dead, stabbed. The Maryland bank is robbed, the robber escaping with $100,000, after being shot. Jim Hanvey, famous detective, comes to investigate the robbery. Randolph Fiske, the bank president, tells him he believes Max Vernon was driving the car in which the robber got away. Thayer, Fiske says, has been robbing Vernon of large sums, in card games, Vernon, apparently, finally realizing it. Reagen, Maryland's police chief, induces Hanvey to take charge of the murder case, evidence implicating Vernon in both the murder and robbery. Tony Peyton, Larry Welch, and Vernon are under arrest as Thayer murder suspects. Welch insists Thayer was alive when he left him, and Hanvey and Reagen are convinced he is lying.

CHAPTER VIII—Continued

It was Reagen who was forced to remind Hanvey that they were supposed to be working on a murder case. He directed Jim's attention to certain chalk marks on the floor.

"Who made those, Reagen?"
"I did."
"What for?"
"They outline the position of Thayer's body as it was when I got here. That straight line where you're standing is the mark to show how far open Carmicino says the door was when he spotted the feet of the body from the hall."

Jim nodded approvingly. "Fine work, John. I never could understand how you detectives manage to think of all those things."

"Quit kidding, Jim."
"I ain't kidding; on the level, I ain't. Now me—I'd have come in here and looked the body over and remembered how it lay. But I never would have been positive sure after that because it would just have been my memory. I can see now. . . ."

He opened the door and stepped into the hall. From where he stood he could see that section of the chalk marks which denoted the position of Thayer's feet and ankles.

"That's what Carmicino says he saw, Jim."

"I see. . . ." Hanvey walked back in the room and Reagen followed, closing the door again.

"Did you look over his papers?" asked the fat man.

"Sure."

"Find anything?"

"I think so. I found his bank book for one thing. He's deposited some large amounts and there ain't much question that he was getting them from Max Vernon."

"Any other deposits?"

"Yes. Some small, and others as high as a couple of hundred dollars. But there isn't any record of where they came from."

"Any letters?"

"A few."

"From girls?"

"Plenty. Especially from Ivy Welch—Larry's sister. Want to read 'em?"

"Mushy?"

"I'll say. And how! The kid was crazy about that bird and no mistake. He was her first love and all that sort of thing. There wasn't anything in the world she wouldn't do for him."

Jim Hanvey was staring into the sunshine beyond the closed windows; there was a queer, soft light in his usually expressionless eyes.

"I reckon I won't read 'em, John. I never could get a whale of a laugh out of love letters."

Reagen flushed. He knew Hanvey hadn't meant to rebuke him. . . . but, by gosh! who ever would have suspected that mountain of flesh of being a sentimentalist?

There was an awkward silence, which Reagen broke.

"What now, Jim?"

"Now? Golly! I dunno. What do you reckon I ought to do?"

Again Reagen felt baffled. There were moments—and this was one—when he believed Hanvey was superbly stupid.

"Would you like to see Farnum and Gleason?"

"No-o. I reckon not."

"Don't you want to talk to Mike Carmicino? I guess he knows a lot about Thayer and Vernon both."

Jim's eyes lighted, as though at a new and very pleasing idea.

"That's a swell thought, John. Where'll we find this janitor?"

They located Mike Carmicino in the basement of the fraternity house. Reagen explained that Hanvey was in charge of the case and wished to question him. . . . and then there was silence for several minutes during which the swarthy janitor eyed the expressionless countenance of Hanvey with wonder and bewilderment. When Jim did speak, his tone was quiet—almost a whisper.

"You were here all day on May first, Mike?"

Carmicino's face beamed.

"Oh, yes, sir. I was nowhere else at all."

"Of course you knew Mr. Thayer pretty well, didn't you?"

Carmicino made an expressive gesture. "I know him very good. He is one fine feller."

"And Mr. Vernon?"

"Also he is a fine feller. Meester Hanvey."

"Do you know Miss Antoinette Peyton?"

The black eyes of the janitor danced with enthusiasm. "I know her good. She is—"

"Sure. She is a fine feller. I understand." Jim produced his golden toothpick and toyed with it. "Was Miss Peyton in this house the day Mr. Thayer was killed?"

"Yes, sir; she was here."

"You saw her?"

"Oh, no, sir. I did not see her. Not any."

"Then how do you know she was here?"

Mike grinned engagingly. "Because

It Was Reagen Who Was Forced to Remind Hanvey That They Were Supposed to Be Working on a Murder Case.

all the fellers they say she go up to Meester Thayer's room."

"Hm! But you did not see her?"

"No, sir. Not even one time."

"Have you ever heard of her coming here before?"

"Oh no, sir. Ladies, she do not come to fraternity house."

"Did you see Mr. Vernon on May first about half-past one o'clock?"

"Yes, sir."

"Where?"

"Upstairs."

"Doing what?"

"I see him doing two things. First I see him go into Meester Thayer's room, and long time beyond that I see him leaving the house."

"You didn't see him leave Mr. Thayer's room?"

"No, sir."

"Where were you when you first saw him?"

"I was cleaning hall on the second floor."

"That was when you saw him go into Thayer's room?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you notice anything queer in the way he looked? Anything different from his regular expression?"

Carmicino looked away and shook his head. "I do not know how you mean expression, Meester Hanvey."

"No-o? Was Mr. Vernon mad?"

"How I know was Meester Vernon mad? He go into Meester Thayer's room, but always he do that on account those two fellers is very fine friends forever. No, Meester Hanvey—I cannot say was Meester Vernon mad because I was just cleaning hall and I do not know."

"You like Mr. Vernon? You wouldn't want to see him in trouble, would you?"

"No, sir—I do not be happy to see Meester Vernon in trouble."

"And so you wouldn't likely remember if he was mad or not?"

Carmicino's black eyes narrowed as they flashed to the face of the detective.

"I would not say something about Meester Vernon I do not know, Meester Hanvey. If I only he is mad, I say he is mad. If I only he is his face, I do not tell you I guess he is mad, because Meester Vernon he is always nice to me."

Hanvey nodded approvingly. "Fine boy, Mike. You and I ought to get along great. Now, you say you saw Vernon leave the fraternity house?"

"Yes, sir, I see that."

"Where were you?"

"I was work' downstairs—back of the house—when I see Meester Vernon come down before he leave."

"Was he in a hurry? Was he walking fast?"

"Yes, sir—he come down the steps pretty fast?"

"Do you remember if he had anything in his hands?"

"Not in his hands, no, sir. But he have a bundle under his arm."

"What sort of a bundle?"

"I don't say for sure, Meester Hanvey; but I think from where I was work', it look like a bundle of clothes."

"Do you remember if he was wearing the same suit when he left the fraternity house that he had on when he entered?"

Again Carmicino hesitated. When he answered it was as though Hanvey was distasteful. "I feel mos' sure he was not wear' the same suit."

"You think he changed clothes between the time he visited Thayer's room and the time he left the house, er?"

"I think, yes. But I do not know for sure."

"Do you know Mr. Larry Welch?"

"Yes, sir. He is one fine feller."

"Did you see him on May first?"

"No, sir, I do not see him any."

"You didn't see him come to this house or leave it?"

"No, sir. I do not see him at all. Of course I hear everybody talk that he have been here to see Mr. Thayer. But me, I don't set even one eye on him."

"Now, suppose you tell me what happened after Mr. Vernon left the fraternity house?"

"I was work' in the back downstairs when I see Meester Vernon go away. Then I get my mop and floor wax and go up to second floor. I do not see anybody when I go up there, so I start waxing the floor and after 'while I look over and I see Meester Thayer's door is a little bit open. I look again and I see his foot and also his legs, and I think right away it is funny he should be lying down on the floor—because that is funny thing to do."

"Then my mind says to me that maybe Meester Thayer, he is drunk, and I think I will put him on the bed so he can sleep it away. I do not want the other fellers to know Meester Thayer is drunk in the fraternity house because that is not nice except when they have a party. I walk to the door. . . ."

The chunky frame of the janitor seemed to shrivel at the remembrance and there was a wild light in his eyes: "I go in the room, Meester Hanvey, and right away I see that Meester Thayer he is not drunk, because his throat—his throat. . . ."

The janitor covered his face with his hands and rocked back and forth. "He is all blood, Meester Hanvey. I touch him once, and I see he is entirely dead and then, Meester Hanvey, something take hold of me—here and I get frightened scared and I do not know anything more until I am downstairs with Meester Farnum and Meester Gleason and they are say, 'What's the matter, Mike?' And that is all, sir—because anything else I do not remember because I am so afraid when I see that blood."

Reagen relaxed as the story finished. He glanced at the prodigious detective to see what effect it had made. Hanvey was lying back in his chair with eyes half closed, apparently oblivious to everything.

Reagen wanted to break the awkward silence, but dared not. Carmicino stared curiously at the bovine Hanvey, then sank into a chair, his sharp, black eyes roving about the little room. And when Hanvey spoke, it was in a casual—almost disinterested—voice; and about something else.

"Who did you like best, Mike—Vernon or Thayer?"

Carmicino did not hesitate.

"Meester Thayer, sir. I like him most best."

"Why?"

"The swarthy face turned brick red, but the man did not evade.

"I like Meester Thayer best, sir, because I feel like him and me, we are partners."

"Huh? What you mean: Partners?"

"I mean. . . . I do not like to say this, sir, because you are policeman, but I promise to tell the truth, Meester Thayer and me, we do much business with each other."

"What sort of business?"

"Whisky."

Reagen sat up very straight. This was something entirely new to him.

"You mean," asked Jim, "that Thayer was a bootlegger?"

Carmicino made a gesture of horror.

"Oh no, sir. Meester Thayer, he is one fine feller. He only get the orders and I buy the whisky for him. It is me which are the bootlegger."

He paused for a moment in obvious embarrassment, and then made a further explanation. "But I am not common bootlegger, Meester Hanvey. I get whisky only for the college fellers, and always I am careful that it is good stuff."

Jim Hanvey appeared to be absorbed in the mechanism of his patent toothpick. His eyes were focused on that device when he spoke again to Carmicino.

"Are you a regular bootlegger, Mike?"

"Oh, no, sir. I would not do nothing like that—only for the college fellers." The janitor's eyes flashed to Reagen's stern face. "I hope I do not get to jail because I tell you that, sir."

"You won't," promised Hanvey.

"Will he, Reagen?"

"Whatever you say, Chief."

Hanvey pursued his inquiry. "How was this liquor thing worked, Mike?"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Chapel on Side of Mountain

Edifice in Sierra Madres May Well Be Called Labor of Love.

High up in the Sierra Madre mountains near Los Angeles, Calif., a white stone church clings to the face of a sharp cliff. This church, named Christ chapel, was built by subscriptions from nature lovers who met here to worship.

Architecturally designed to harmonize with its surroundings, the chapel stands at the head of a four-mile trail from the valley. It was built on a break in the face of the cliff, out of rock blasted from the mountain.

Below the tiny white church is the valley. Behind it the cliff climbs toward the mountain peak. And on every side are the blue-tinted mountains of the Sierra Madre.

Christ chapel is a favorite rendezvous of the Sierra club, an organization of mountain lovers. Church groups, college students and individuals of all denominations often climb the trail to hold services there, bringing their own ministers. Lloyd Austin, manager of a mountain resort near which the interesting church is located, told of the inception and building of Christ chapel.

"One day," Austin says, "a friend suggested the building of a chapel, to be financed by friends of the camp. Arthur N. Benton, architect of the famous Mission inn at Riverside, drew the design. The cornerstone was laid and work begun."

It was a difficult task. All the building stone was blasted from the cliffside, cement was carried on pack animals, and sand was carried a mile or more.

"But as the cost of labor mounted," Austin continued, "the subscription list grew until the completed chapel, with all its memorials and the rock arches bordering its amphitheater stood for pledges of about $6,500, all of it provided by people of all denominations, and some of none at all."

"And so," says Austin, "the mountain chapel came, beyond our dream, an adventure in Christian brotherhood."

"Then we wondered—would the week-end hikers cease from play long enough for 'church'? They did, and do, with astonishing unanimity."

with the granulated soap in the tub or washer. Put in the garments and wash quickly.

Thoroughly rinse in clear lukewarm or cool water. Some cottons, as curtains, aprons, etc., it is desirable to starch lightly. Have the starch lukewarm. Then squeeze out the moisture.

If the color is unfaded, it is helpful to roll article in a dry turkish towel to absorb excess moisture, if size permits.

Your colored things should be dried indoors, or in the shade, as the sun tends to fade colors. Iron with a warm iron—too hot an iron often fades colors.

World's Radium Supply

Although at one time it was thought there was not more than half an ounce of radium in the world, at least 15½ ounces have been extracted since 1922, according to figures compiled in Paris. The total obtained since its discovery by Madame Curie is approximately 2½ pounds. At its present price it is worth about $85,000,000,000. In 1,800 years it will have disintegrated to about half its present weight.

REALLY STUNNING AT A DISTANCE

"Complexion Curse"

She thought she was just unlucky when he called on her once—avoided her thereafter. But no one admires pimply, blemished skin. More and more women are realizing that pimples and blotches are often danger signals of clogged bowels—poisonous wastes ravaging the system. Let RINSO (Nature's Remedy) afford complete, thorough elimination and promptly ease away beauty-ruining poisonous matter. Fine for sick headache, bilious conditions, dizziness. Try this safe, dependable, all-vegetable corrective. At all drug-gists—only 25c.

"TUMS" Quick relief for acid indigestion, heartburn. Only 10c.

SORES AND LUMPS—My Specialty Write for Free 140 Page Book Dr. Boyd Williams, Hudson, Wis.

Make rich, lukewarm or cool suds

Colored articles which you are sure have absolutely fast color may be washed more easily, especially if much soiled. If they are soaked for twenty minutes in lukewarm suds. Never soak unfaded colors at all. Granulated soap is ideal for colored things, for it dissolves quickly and gives rich, creamy suds which gently remove dirt, protecting colors.

Colored fabrics which are even slightly unfaded should be washed and dried quickly.

Make rich, lukewarm or cool suds

YOU'RE LUCKY, CORA. I HEAR THE MAKERS RECOMMEND USING MY SOAP IN IT

THAT'S THE KIND OF WASHER I BOUGHT. IT'S WONDERFUL BUT—

I like Meester Thayer best, sir, because I feel like him and me, we are partners."

"Huh? What you mean: Partners?"

"I mean. . . . I do not like to say this, sir, because you are policeman, but I promise to tell the truth, Meester Thayer and me, we do much business with each other."

"What sort of business?"

"Whisky."

Reagen sat up very straight. This was something entirely new to him.

"You mean," asked Jim, "that Thayer was a bootlegger?"

Carmicino made a gesture of horror.

"Oh no, sir. Meester Thayer, he is one fine feller. He only get the orders and I buy the whisky for him. It is me which are the bootlegger."

He paused for a moment in obvious embarrassment, and then made a further explanation. "But I am not common bootlegger, Meester Hanvey. I get whisky only for the college fellers, and always I am careful that it is good stuff."

Jim Hanvey appeared to be absorbed in the mechanism of his patent toothpick. His eyes were focused on that device when he spoke again to Carmicino.

"Are you a regular bootlegger, Mike?"

"Oh, no, sir. I would not do nothing like that—only for the college fellers." The janitor's eyes flashed to Reagen's stern face. "I hope I do not get to jail because I tell you that, sir."

"You won't," promised Hanvey.

"Will he, Reagen?"

"Whatever you say, Chief."

Hanvey pursued his inquiry. "How was this liquor thing worked, Mike?"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

YOU'RE LUCKY, CORA. I HEAR THE MAKERS RECOMMEND USING MY SOAP IN IT

THAT'S THE KIND OF WASHER I BOUGHT. IT'S WONDERFUL BUT—

I like Meester Thayer best, sir, because I feel like him and me, we are partners."

"Huh? What you mean: Partners?"

"I mean. . . . I do not like to say this, sir, because you are policeman, but I promise to tell the truth, Meester Thayer and me, we do much business with each other."

"What sort of business?"

"Whisky."

Reagen sat up very straight. This was something entirely new to him.

"You mean," asked Jim, "that Thayer was a bootlegger?"

Carmicino made a gesture of horror.

"Oh no, sir. Meester Thayer, he is one fine feller. He only get the orders and I buy the whisky for him. It is me which are the bootlegger."

He paused for a moment in obvious embarrassment, and then made a further explanation. "But I am not common bootlegger, Meester Hanvey. I get whisky only for the college fellers, and always I am careful that it is good stuff."

Jim Hanvey appeared to be absorbed in the mechanism of his patent toothpick. His eyes were focused on that device when he spoke again to Carmicino.

"Are you a regular bootlegger, Mike?"

"Oh, no, sir. I would not do nothing like that—only for the college fellers." The janitor's eyes flashed to Reagen's stern face. "I hope I do not get to jail because I tell you that, sir."

"You won't," promised Hanvey.

"Will he, Reagen?"

"Whatever you say, Chief."

Hanvey pursued his inquiry. "How was this liquor thing worked, Mike?"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

YOU'RE LUCKY, CORA. I HEAR THE MAKERS RECOMMEND USING MY SOAP IN IT

THAT'S THE KIND OF WASHER I BOUGHT. IT'S WONDERFUL BUT—

I like Meester Thayer best, sir, because I feel like him and me, we are partners."

"Huh? What you mean: Partners?"

"I mean. . . . I do not like to say this, sir, because you are policeman, but I promise to tell the truth, Meester Thayer and me, we do much business with each other."

LINCOLN ESTATES

WM. MARTIN POST ASSISTED IN INSTALLATION

At the invitation of The Chicago Heights Post No. 2825, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, William Martin Post went in a body to Chicago Heights on Sunday, May 20, to assist in the installation of this new post.

The installation ceremonies were held in Carpenters Hall on Halsted Street. The line of march of the Veterans proceeded from Carpenters Hall down Illinois street and the Dixie Highway back to Carpenters Hall.

Two bugle corps, Catigny Post No. 368, Joliet and the Gary, Indiana Post with massed colors proceeded the procession.

There were several prominent speakers present, including his honor, Mayor Bergen of Chicago Heights, and members of the Department and Council of Illinois, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Ladies Auxiliary. There was also a fine turnout of the boys of the various Posts.

After the installation, lunch was served and the gayeties started. The boys enjoyed every moment of their stay in Chicago Heights and every one had a good time.

If there are any ex-service men now living in towns adjoining Lincoln Estates who have seen service on foreign soil or on hostile waters, we invite you to come out and talk it over. We want your co-operation and support in the work the Veterans of Foreign Wars is doing to help the ex-service man.

Meetings after June 3rd, 1933 will be held every second and fourth Saturday in the new Barn Dance Hall.

Mrs. M. Werhollick, Mrs. J. Bessler and Mrs. Englen visited Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Anderson Sunday. Mrs. Werhollick is a sister of Mrs. Anderson.

Mrs. Gus Tatge and daughter Agnes from Harvey, Mrs. Walters of Pullman, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tatge from Steger and Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Lockwood of New Lenox were guests of Mrs. Elizabeth Walker on Sunday. Mrs. Walker also entertained Mr. and Mrs. Louie Koelling, Miss Anna and Mrs. S. Pipenbrink from Chicago Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lacey and daughter, Marian of Chicago were guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Lockwood and Mrs. Mattson went to Chicago on a business trip Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad and son Harry, and Mr. and Mrs. Hill and mother all from Chicago, took home a truckload of flowers from the G. Walker's garden on Sunday.

The material arrived Tuesday on the grounds for the remodeling of the dance hall and club rooms of the V. F. W. Wm. Martin Post No. 725 at the old farm house. Work will be completed in two weeks.

A group of V. F. W.'s from Joliet visited Commander J. R. Jones on Sunday.

The Lincoln Highway is being repaired preparatory to the opening of The Century of Progress. The Highway is in better repair now than it has been in the last four years...

Mr. A. C. Becker celebrated his birthday on Monday. All of his friends wish him many happy returns of the day.

The seventh grades from the Gatter and Ann Rutledge Schools went to Monee Thursday, May 18th for their final examinations from the County Superintendent of Schools, August Maue. All of the boys and girls passed and are very happy as a result.

The Sewing Club met at the home of Mrs. Anderson on 80th Ave., on Wednesday, May 17th. A large crowd was present and everyone enjoyed the delicious refreshments Mrs. Anderson served.

Mrs. Wm. Berglund and sons and Mrs. Salter of Homewood and Miss Gertrude Isbestor of Chicago were guests of Mrs. Mary R. Mann Saturday. Mrs. Eva Blanchard, Mrs. Axel Carlson and Mr. Julius Kohlze of Chicago and Mrs. Foster and sister from Mishawaka, Indiana visited Mrs. Mann on Sunday.

Mr. A. C. Becker's mother and brother from Hazelcrest were present at the closing exercises of the Ann Rutledge School, as was Mrs. Heath of Melrose Park, the sister of Mrs. H. and S. Tyler.

FRANKFORT

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Martin of Weldon, Ill. spent Monday night at the J. C. Knight home. They left Tuesday for Naperville to visit his brother, Dr. Winfield Martin, and a daughter, Miss Juanita Martin in Geneva.

Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Scheer of Chicago spent a few days with her brothers George and Henry Geuther, they also visited with his mother, Mrs. Peter Scheer, and his sister Mrs. George Hoerman in Manhattan.

Miss Elizabeth Rahm and Charles Rahm were dinner guests Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Hoerman in Manhattan.

Dr. W. V. Hedges who has been ill is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Eisenbrandt and family moved in with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Eisenbrandt north of town on route 51. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eisenbrandt moved into the house vacated by Harlan Eisenbrandt.

Miss Louise Freese of Joliet spent the week end with her friend Miss Marjorie Knight.

The Ladies Aid society of St. Peter's Evangelical church will serve coffee and lunch in the church basement Decoration Day after the program which will be held in the Frankfort public school. The young people of the church will present a program in the church basement at 7:30 o'clock after the supper is over, the program will consist of songs, drills, playlets and music by the Orchestra.

Mrs. Fred Warning who has been ill for sometime is improved and is now visiting her sister, Mrs. Charles Hanson in Plainfield.

The Frankfort baseball team were defeated by the Homewood team the score being Homewood 9—Frankfort 2. Next Sunday Frankfort will play Matteson at Matteson.

The Frankfort indoor ball teams have started to play. Monday evening the married men played the young boy's team and lost the game. The young boy's played the young men and the game was won by the young men. Friday evening they expect to have another game. The games are being played on the vacant lots next to Max Haass's place. Mrs. Lola Knight has been re-engaged to teach the school she has been teaching southeast of town.

Irving Knight has been engaged to teach the school he taught a year ago near Plainfield.

The graduating exercises of the Frankfort public school will be held in the school auditorium, Friday night, May 31, at 8 o'clock. Daylight Saving Time.

A large number of Frankfort people attended the 75th anniversary of the St. Peter's Evangelical church in Green Garden last Sunday.

The Ladies aid society of the M. E. church will meet in the home of Mrs. James Hunter, Thursday, June 1st.

The Young people's league and Ladies aid of the M. E. church will serve refreshments Decoration Day at the school grounds in the afternoon.

Mrs. Harold Folkers and Mrs. Wesley Hollstein spent a day in Chicago last week.

MOKENA

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Semmler, daughters Adeline and Ada visited in Chicago Sunday with his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Houchin.

Charlotte Gee of Chicago, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Koeller underwent an operation in Silver Cross hospital, Saturday.

Mrs. Herman Woodrich who underwent an operation in the Silver Cross hospital, is improving.

Mrs. Fred Cappel underwent an emergency operation in Silver Cross hospital on Monday. She is improving nicely.

Quite a number of Mokena people including Rev. E. J. Moritz and family and Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Krapp attended the 75th anniversary celebration of the St. Peter Evangelical church in Green Garden last Sunday.

The duck pond near the Rock Island water tank is quite an attraction. Harry F. Mall has several mallard who frequent this pond. Several baby ducks have been added to the users of this pond this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hentsch and family visited with Mr. and Mrs. H. Deadmore in Joliet, Sunday.

The Ladies afternoon bridge club was entertained in the home of Mrs.

E. G. McMahon Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Anton Benson has had a very outstanding and interesting rest retreat built of saplings in her garden. The retreat, tables, etc., are all built of the same material and the job is a real work of art. It was built by Gordon Swanson of Joliet. The retreat is equipped to accommodate 12 persons.

Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Scheer, former Mokena residents, now of Tingley Park spent Sunday with Mrs. Fullerton also a former Mokena resident, who is now living in the Catholic Old People's Home in Chicago.

SCHOOL NEWS

The following pupils will receive perfect attendance certificates for the school year 1932—33 if they are neither absent nor tardy during the three remaining weeks of school: Edward Lauffer, Francis Rinke, Lydia Baudry, Marie Bruhn, Edwin Yunker, Andrew Lahmann, Harold Cappel, Erwin McGovney, George Bruhn, Irene Nelson, Michael MacPherson, Leona Jungels, Russel Lauffer, Glenn Knakmuhs, Gerald Carey, Harold Balaz, Elsworth McGovney, June Nielsen, Fred Hentsch, Maxwell Williams, Kurt Hellmuth, Leonard Bertleson, Jean Schweer, Eileen Walsh, Ada Semmler, Russell Nelson, Howard Jungels, Jack Nord-sell Grace Warning, Eleanor Hostert, Russell, Bennett, Marie Rinke, Irene Steinhagen, Fremont Warning, Marvin Cappel, Kenneth Warning, Norman Williams, Gordon Benson, Nick Hieman, and Arthur Hostert.

The school calendar for the remainder of the year is as follows:

May 30	- Memorial Day
June 2	- Final Examinations
June 4	- Baccalaureate
June 5	- Final Examinations
June 6	- School Picnic
June 7	- Commencement

TELEPHONE SERVICE IS POPULAR AS PRESENT

Gift Is Useful All Year—Makes Possible Closer Touch

Telephones as gifts is one of the latest.

This past Christmas many telephone subscriptions were given in lieu of other Christmas presents, and they were most welcome to the recipients, for telephone service is something which people use every day in the year. Telephone gifts this last Christmas also included residence extension telephones from the man in the family to his wife or daughter, in order to save them many unnecessary steps by having telephone facilities available on more than one floor.

The plan of giving a telephone as a present began a few years ago and has slowly increased in scope since then, with the result that telephones today are considered appropriate presents not only for Christmas, but also for birthdays, anniversaries and other special occasions. This last Christmas, in particular, the telephone proved to be a favorite gift on the part of people who desired to keep in closer touch with relatives who, themselves did not feel able to bear the cost. Telephones as birthday and anniversary presents likewise are increasing in popularity.

Your first tank full will give you a thrill!

INSTANT STARTING
LIGHTNING PICK-UP

Conoco Bronze has greatly improved anti-knock quality... always the full-throated purr of rhythmic power... seemingly effortless in its quiet performance.

It has also instant starting, lightning pick-up, greater mileage and power. Try a tank full... and be convinced.

CONOCO
BRONZE
GASOLINE

“Hold Fast to That Which Is Good”

Today, more than at any other time in the history of this country, experienced, able and fearless judges are needed to preside over our courts. This is particularly true of the Circuit Court, which will be obliged to hear many important cases and render many far-reaching decisions within the next few years. The American system of government—the best and oldest in the world—is based upon “checks and balances”, and there is no one check or balance as important as an experienced, able and impartial judiciary.

Judge Arthur W. DeSelm and Judge Frederick A. Hill have served the people of the 12th Judicial Circuit for many years—and have served them well. They are recognized far and wide as experienced, able judges. They should be re-elected. Follow the Biblical advice and —“HOLD FAST TO THAT WHICH IS GOOD.”

Frederick A. Hill Arthur W. DeSelm

was born in Joliet and has lived in Will County all his life. After establishing a reputation for legal ability, he was the unanimous choice of the bar to succeed the late Judge Dibell, and has been elected twice without opposition. He has earned a wide reputation for fairness, ability and courage, and because of his own hard work has managed to reduce the expenses of his Court. His fearlessness was attested in the trial of the Klein murder case, and his judicial ability has been proved in many ways. He has the confidence and respect both of the bar and of the people.

Keep Experienced Judges in!
The Important Circuit Court
by voting and getting your friends to vote for Judges Hill and DeSelm
at the election, Monday June 5th

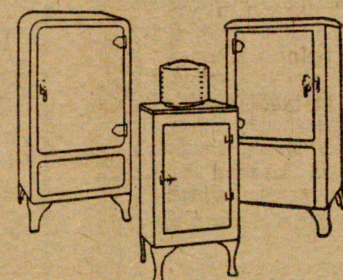

9 CENTS worth of electricity
(about the price of a quart of milk) will run an electric refrigerator more than

30 HOURS

WHAT CONVENIENCE... safe, carefree refrigeration coming from an electric outlet in the kitchen!
And what a bargain! Only 9 cents —about the price of one quart of milk—keeps an electric refrigerator operating, keeps foods of all kinds dependably fresh, for more than 30 hours in the average home.

Switching on your electric service is so simple a thing, it is easy to overlook all the convenience it brings. Certainly your electric service is one of the cheapest items on your budget. For less than 6 cents it lights the average living room and runs the radio for an entire evening. For less than 1 cent it vacuum-cleans the whole house. For less than 3 cents it speeds through a week's washing. For less than 1/5 of a cent it beats up a cake...

Can you think of a single thing you buy for your home that brings more convenience for so little money?

SEE THE NEW REFRIGERATORS

at your Public Service
Store or your LOCAL DEALERS

PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY OF NORTHERN ILLINOIS

SUPERIOR SOUPS

THE little steamboat on the Seine was loaded to the gunwales, and some frolicsome French youths started recklessly to rock it. Nearer and nearer the water rose to the danger level at each dip from side to side.

"Well," philosophically remarked a satiric old Frenchwoman, "at least we'll all drink soup together!"

Which may remind you that that was exactly what the French army was doing when it spoiled the plans which the German army had been maturing for forty-four years at the first battle of the Marne. The French soldier's regular ration consists largely of soup.

New Soups

The first soup that comes to mind in this connection is that new vegetable soup made of rich beef stock to which it would be a culinary crime to add any water. Just serve it from the can as you would at home from the kettle, and no flavor will be lost because the can is sealed while cooking. Incidentally, this soup contains no less than fifteen crisp, tasty vegetables, and it is always cooked in small quantities just the way you do it at home.

Then there are twelve kinds, several of them new, of another brand of soups. These include vegetable soup, pepper pot soup, mutton broth, cream of asparagus soup, cream of celery soup, cream of green pea soup, cream of oyster soup, cream of tomato soup, and gumbo Creole. In these soups, too, the nourishing goodness is brewed in by slowly simmering the ingredients in small kettles. Nothing whatever has to be added to them. They come, properly seasoned, ready to heat and serve.

Home-Made Soups

But, if you prefer different soups and think that you can make soups as good as these at home, there's nothing in the world to prevent you from trying it. Here are some recipes for home-made soups which will help you to make such a comparison.

Loebster Chowder: Remove the tendons from the contents of a 6-ounce can of lobster, and shred. Add one cup of potato, diced small, one and one-half cups boiling water and one-half teaspoon salt, and boil until the potatoes are tender. Scald one quart milk with one sliced onion and two tablespoons butter, and season to taste with salt and pepper. Break up six Boston crackers and lay on top of the lobster and potatoes in a soup tureen, strain the onion out of the milk, and pour over. This serves four to five.

Half a cup of cream added at the last makes this soup still better.

Corn and Lettuce Soup: Sauté one cup shredded lettuce in two tablespoons butter until it starts to brown. Add the contents of an 8-ounce can of creamy corn, and cook gently for five minutes more. Add three cups scalded milk to one cup hot mashed potatoes, add to corn, and season to taste with salt and pepper. Bind with a little flour if you want the soup thicker. This recipe serves six.

Chilled Fruit Soups

But summer is on the way, and cold soups are quite the thing for the torrid months. Did you know that you can make soups of fruits, even of our national fruit, the red cherry? Here's the way to do that:

Red Cherry Soup: Mix two teaspoons cornstarch with two tablespoons cold water and add to the juice from a quart can of sour pitted cherries with one cup water, two tablespoons sugar and one tablespoon lemon juice. Cook until thickened, stirring to prevent lumping. Chill. Serve very cold with a few cherries garnishing each cup. This serves six.

Red Raspberry Soup: Simmer together the juice from a quart can of red raspberries, two cups water, the juice of two oranges, one tablespoon sugar and one teaspoon minute tapioca until the tapioca is very transparent. Chill. This serves six.

Arlene Judge, popular screen star, seems to have found a roof sun porch high enough so that she can do her daily exercises outdoors without being seen by the neighbors.

Milk Helps Fight "Between Meal Hunger"

A cynic once stated that the woman of normal weight whom "age-weight" charts extol, is just a myth. He had probably been listening in on too many bridge luncheons and back fence conversations where reducing is a popular subject.

But the men would probably talk about it too, if they had been trying to do without food—especially if the doing without process had been carried out in a place full of food. The fact that most women's work is in the home where food is always at hand, is probably one reason why it is so difficult for them to reduce. They may keep rigidly to their diet at meal-time but between meals—

Today's menu takes into account this between-meal temptation to munch and provides for a glass of milk besides the regular meals. Try spreading out the food allotment in this way. It will take the edge off the appetite, and at the same time will not add pounds to the figure for though fresh milk gives nearly all the food requirements, it is a low-calorie food. The exercise for this week is one you probably used to do in gym class. Stand erect, raise the arms over the head, bend forward at the waist and try to touch the floor with the tips of the fingers. Return to the first position and repeat the exercise five times, each day increasing the number of times you do it.

A Safe Reducing Menu

From a Screen Star's Diet

A 1400-calorie diet that supplies the essential vitamins, minerals and proteins to maintain good health usually results in a safe reduction of 1/4 pound per day.

BREAKFAST—425 Calories
1/2 glass orange juice	75
1/4 cup scrambled eggs	100
1 slice toast	50
1/2 tablespoon butter	25
Coffee
Fresh milk for coffee	25
1 teaspoon sugar	25
1 glass fresh milk	135

LUNCHEON—310 Calories
Cocoa made with milk (scant cup)	140
3 crackers	100
Fruit cup	100

DINNER—510 Calories
2 lamb chops	200
1/2 cup peas	50
Mashed turnips	25
3/4 tablespoon butter for vegetables	75
Grated carrot and cabbage salad	25
1 glass of milk	135

Between Meals or at Bedtime
1 glass of milk	135

CURE THE CAUSE OF "HALITOSIS"

Recently we have all become so "halitosis-conscious" that there is danger of our forgetting that the important thing is to find out what is causing unpleasant breath and correct it rather than to cover up one odor with another. The ominous warnings presented to us all the time, that "our best friends won't tell us," and that we may be offending without knowing it, are based on fact. It is true that halitosis often develops so slowly that the individual gradually becomes accustomed to the condition and doesn't notice its progress. It is well, therefore, to assure yourself that you don't have an unpleasant breath.

First among the possible causes of halitosis is the unhygienic condition of the mouth. Or the trouble may be due to: indigestion, catarrhal conditions, respiratory ailments, tonsillar diseases or tuberculosis. Obviously, then, anyone who has unpleasant breath would do well to have a medical and dental examination.

Indication of General Physical Condition.

It's an ill wind that blows nobody good. Bad breath may result in good if the self-consciousness it causes you leads to the discovery and cure of some trouble which is affecting your general health.

A simple method of checking up on the cleanliness of the mouth is to cleanse the spaces between the teeth with dental floss. If putrefaction is present you will soon discover it. To determine whether the tongue has any coating that could be causing the trouble, rub a piece of loose gauze over its surface.

Take special care to see that the mouth is always kept absolutely clean. Do not give your mouth an ordinary cleansing and let it go at that. Rather, give your teeth a thorough brushing and rinsing after every meal. It is also an excellent idea to work dental floss between your teeth three times a day.

Don't depend on patent mouth washes to eliminate unpleasant breath. They will bring about only temporary improvement, and while you depend on them you may be delaying action on some serious cause that should have immediate attention.

This is one of a series of articles on "How to Have Attractive Teeth" released in cooperation with and approved by the public service committee of the Chicago Dental Society.

Advertise Your Business

Sedan Prairie News

On May 18th the 4-H Club girls and Mrs. Emil Kampe, their leader, held their meeting at the home of Miss Melinda Twietmeyer who is the vice-president of the club, in honor of her eighteenth birthday. The meeting was a very interesting one. The subject was "How to become more attractive and how to become men and women with high position". The social program included singing and music and a dandy midnight lunch was served. Everybody had a good time. After the lunch was served and everybody had a good time the guests departed, wishing Melinda many more happy birthdays.

The following day, May 19th, Mr. Hollstein, the teacher of Dist. 159 and his pupils and Mrs. Emil Kampe together with some of the club girls attended the Century of Progress Day in Chicago. Those who also were present were: Mrs. Herman Neimeyer, Mrs. John Feigel, Mrs. Hollstein, Mrs. Albert Hoger and Mrs. William Kampe.

The school children surely enjoyed going thru the Field's Museum and it was a good education for all of them.

The day these happy folks spent together will linger in their memories forever.

—Club Reporter

Colorado Park Still

Thrills Says Wells

Whether your inclinations lean toward the secluded highlands which Enos Mills made famous, or the gay resort life that has thrilled so many newcomers, Rocky Mountain National Park in north central Colorado is bound to please, says Carveth Wells, Continental Oil Company radio explorer.

Wells, who has journeyed into many strange parts of the world, is scheduled to present an intimate description of Colorado's most famous mountain playground Wednesday night, May 31 as a part of Conoco's regular weekly broadcast. He will include innumerable pictures of the park, ranging from the gayeties of Estes Park village to the high-born sheep of the glacier regions.

The Conoco program may be heard by local listeners who tune in on station WMAQ Wednesday night at 8:30 o'clock standard time.

It will pay you to get our prices before you order

SALE BILLS

Milk Is Pure and Cheap Food and it is especially pure if it comes from—

MARTI'S DAIRY
MOKENA, ILLINOIS

We Hyrd-Vac our milk and this assures purity

Try our Milk and Cream

Phone Mokena 31-W-1 For Daily Delivery. Do It Today!

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE IN THIS PAPER. TRY IT!

R. H. Carmichael

TINLEY PARK, ILLINOIS

Physician and Surgeon

Office Hours:
7 to 8 p. m. Morning by Appointment
Sundays by Appointment
Hours 8 to 10 a. m. 7 to 9 p. m.
Telephone Tinley Park 73

Buy now before prices increase
Old LUMBER New

Used 2x45'-6'-7' Lin. ft. .01

Used Maple Flooring, per M $18.00

Many Other Lumber Bargains

Acme Wrecking & Lumber Co.

9432 Vincennes Avenue, Chicago

Beverly 4900-4901

OPEN FOR BUSINESS
Saturday, May 27, 1933
Chicken Dinner

served Sundays and holidays 50c. Soft drinks, Ice Cream and Sandwiches.

BARNSDALL GAS AND OIL

J. V. HALL

Tel. Mokena 37-R-1 Wolf Road, Mokena, Ill.

Opening
DANCE

SAENGER HALL, Tinley Park, Ill.

Sat. May 27, 1933

Music by CARL NORMAN

and his

Lads of Melody 8 Piece Orchestra
Featuring JOAN DELL, Blues Singer

Admission Gents 45c LADIES FREE

Dancing 8:00 to 1:00 standard time
5 hours of continuous dancing

George Lorenz, Manager

L. Malloy

Dona Gordon
Fashion
Frocks

59c

Straw Hats

Soft and Sailor Styles

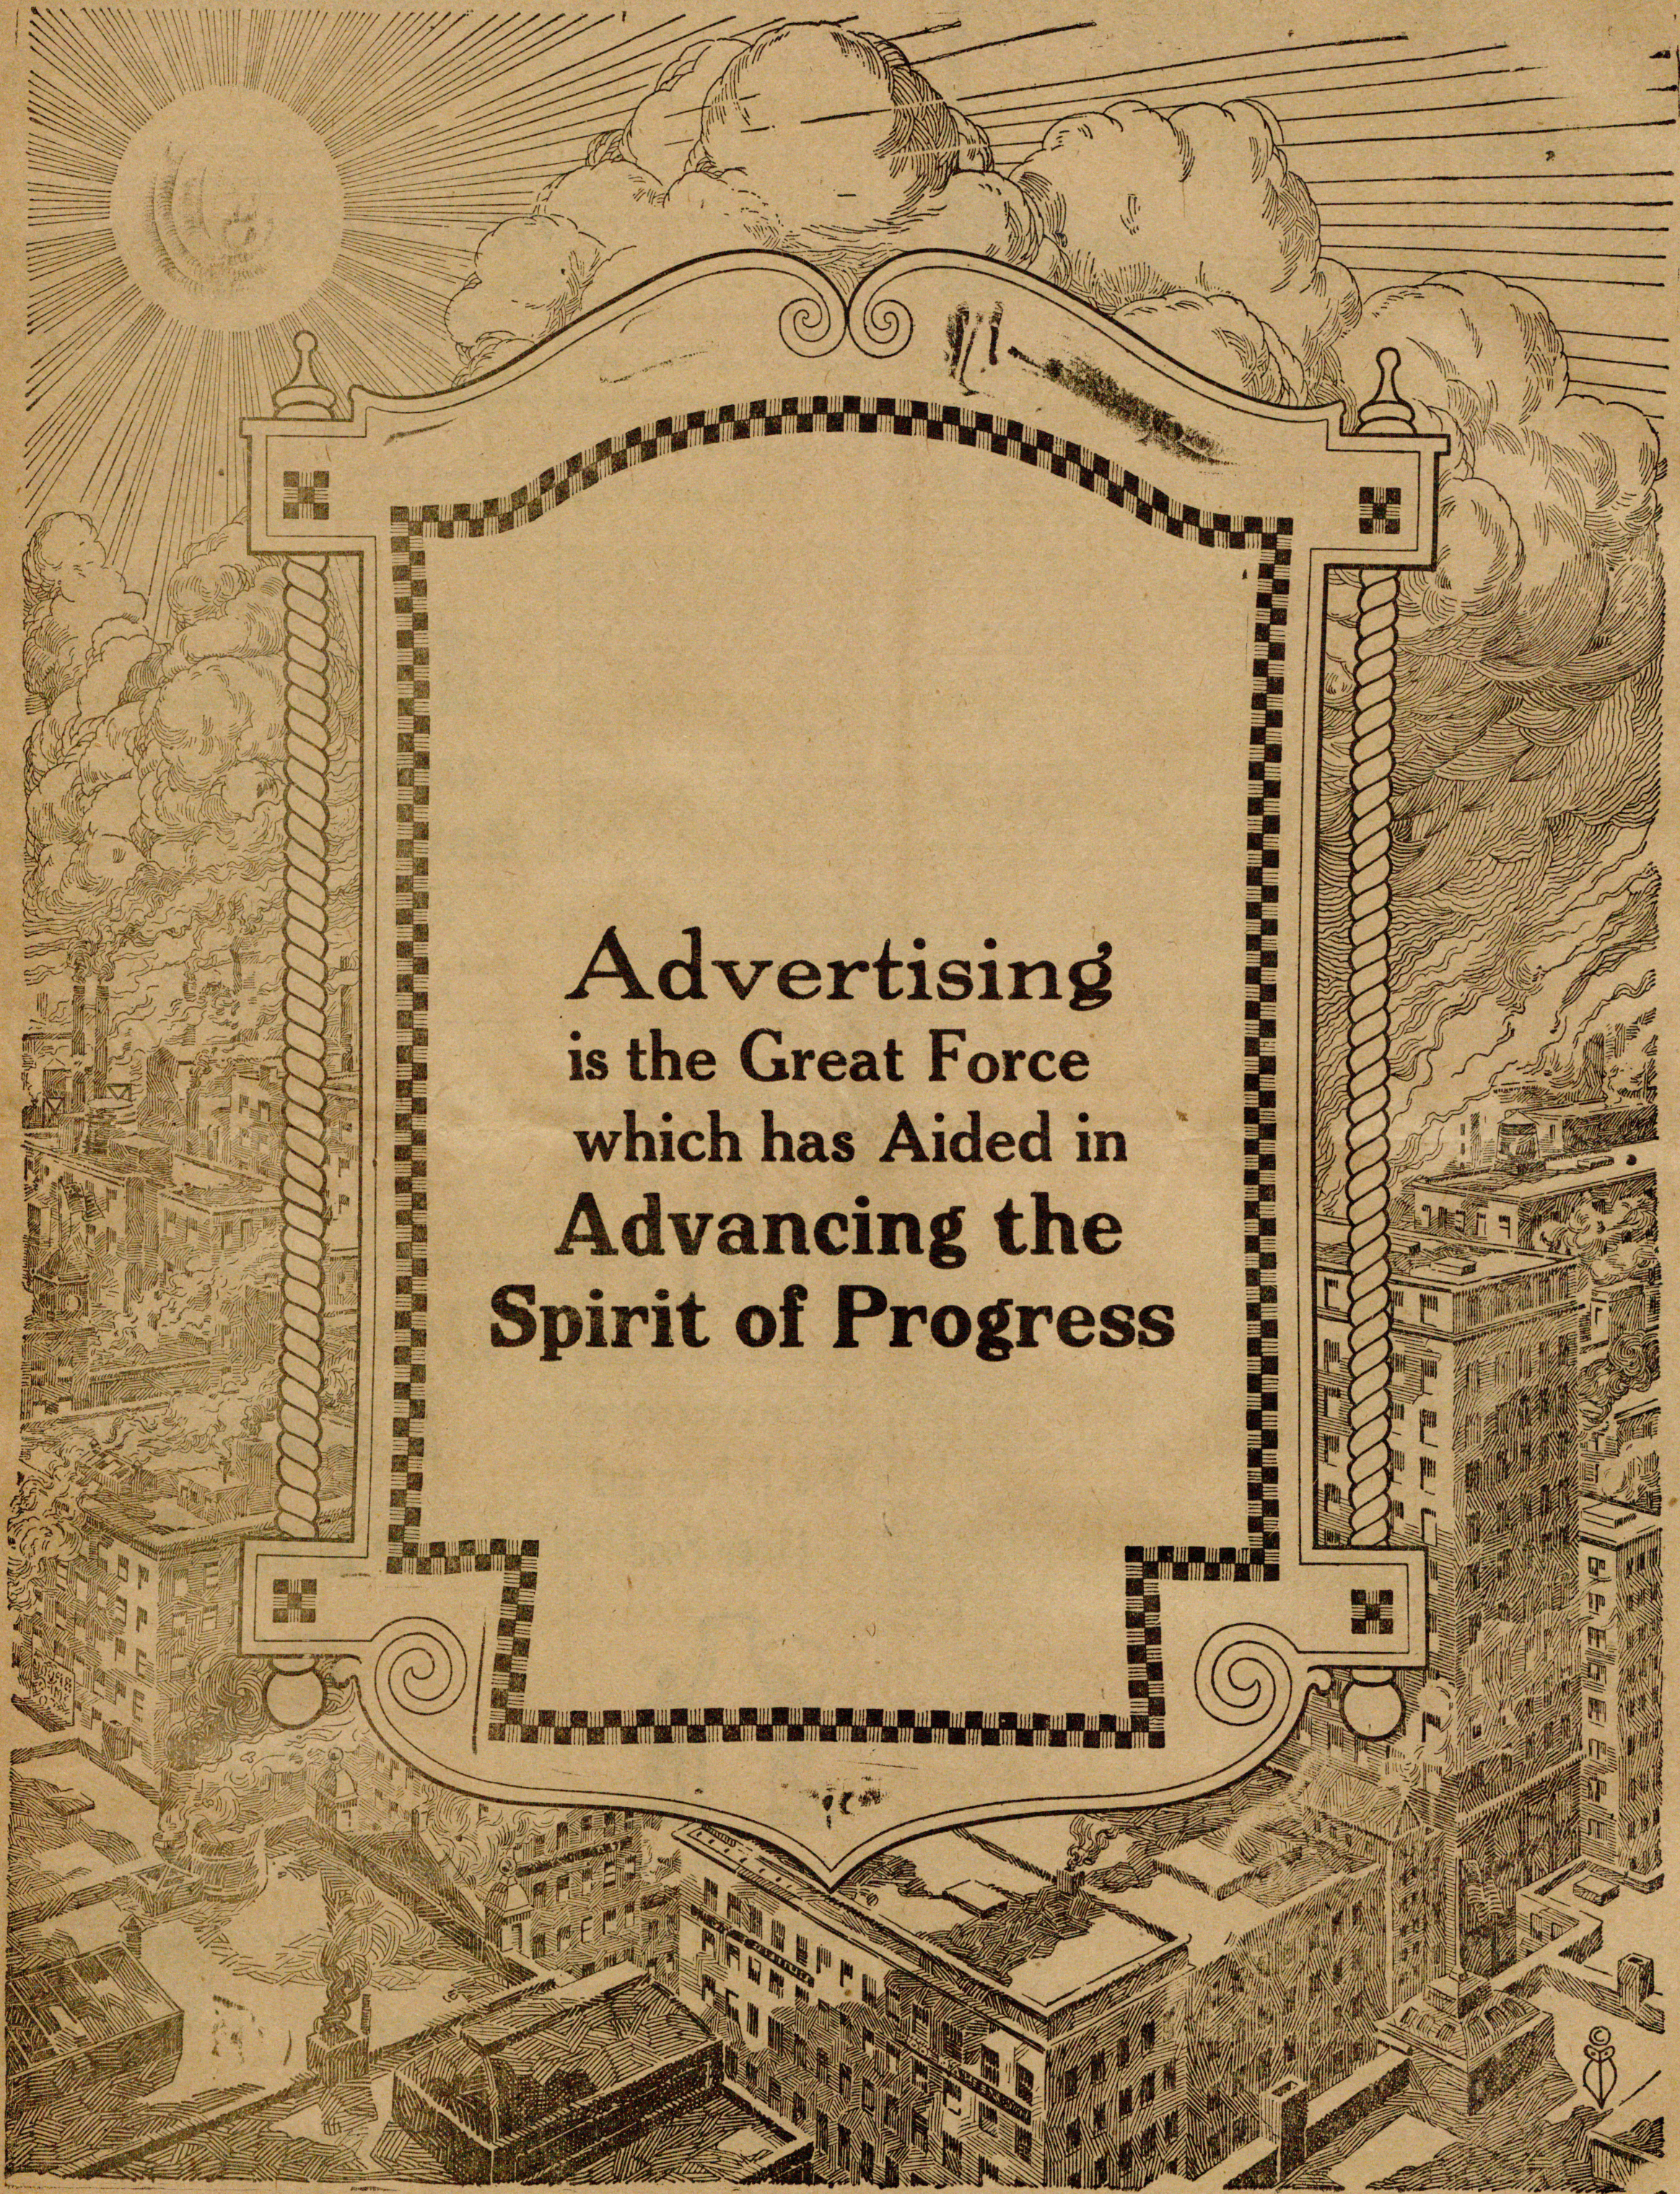

79c, 98c and

59c

Gala printed frocks
59c

THE WHITE STORE
"There is Only One White Store in Joliet"
CASS STREET

ORLAND PARK

The Orland Park school team was defeated 5 to 4 by the Mokena school team in a tournament at Mokena Tuesday afternoon.

A party is being planned for June 2nd in honor of the members of the graduating classes of last year and of this year of the Orland Park high school. Those planning to attend should see Gladys Townsend or Ruby Uthe.

Laurel Camp No. 1796 of the Orland Park Royal Neighbors will hold special memorial services in the Cooper cemetery this coming Sunday, May 28th at 2 o'clock daylight saving time and the public is invited to attend these services. Services will be held at the grave of Mrs. Mary Cox, a former member of the camp.

Martin Smith, assessor of Orland township who was recently bitten by a police dog, is getting along nicely.

The St. Michael A. C. gave a dance in the Palos club house on Wednesday night of this week.

The Orland Park Women's Club will hold their monthly meeting at the Creer hall next Thursday afternoon, June 1st.

The Orland Park school will hold their commencement exercises Friday evening, June 2nd at the school auditorium. A program is being prepared.

Miss Caroline Sippel of Palos Park and John Reiher of Orland Park were quietly united in marriage in Chicago on Monday of this week. They will reside in Palos until July first. A company of young folks shivered them Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hasbrook of South Dakota, stopped off here Sunday while on their way to Maine and visited with Mrs. Fred Miller and family.

A company of friends gathered at the home of Miss Eleanor Cooper May 17th to celebrate her birthday. All enjoyed a delightful time. Dainty refreshments were served.

ORLAND P. T. A. CLOSING ACTIVE YEAR

The last meeting of the school year of the Orland Park P. T. A., was held Thursday evening, May 11.

All unfinished business was quickly disposed of. The amendments to the by-laws as read at the previous meeting came up for action and were unanimously adopted.

The officers and chairman of the standing committee made their required reports and each teacher also reported on the various items furnished and activities fostered by the P. T. A., in their various rooms during the year.

The auditing committee consisting of James Creer, Louis Arnold and Harold Morlock, submitted their report on the books and accounts of the treasurer, which they found in excellent shape.

Mrs. Ray Doctor's report, as chairman of the Welfare Committee, showed that 195 babies had been examined at the clinic during the year and 30 children had received the diphtheria toxoid treatment. She also announced that at the June 14 meeting of the clinic all children of pre-school age would be vaccinated free. President Arnold submitted a resume of the meeting of the National Educational Association meeting held at Evanston recently at which the Orland Association was represented by Mrs. Arnold, Mrs. Donisage and all the teachers of our school.

Mrs. Lillian Knox, newly elected vice-president and Mrs. Ruth Morlock, new secretary, were installed into their respective offices by President Arnold, who also took the opportunity to express her appreciation to the retiring officers, Mrs. Minnie Davidson, and Mrs. Bessie Uthe for their excellent work and loyal support throughout the year.

The attendance prize contest resulted in a tie between the primary and the grade rooms. Mrs. McKay, president, Mrs. Fulton, treasurer, and Mrs. Fulton of the Forest Ridge P. T. A., were interested and welcome visitors.

An interesting and enjoyable program was presented by the children of the primary room under the direction of Miss Ersel Kettering. The toy orchestra delighted with two snappy numbers, the parade of the wooden soldiers and the baby parade. Little Eleanor Cooper performed very efficiently as leaders and Miss Masters played the piano accompaniment.

An exceptionally pleasing number was the nursery sketch "Sunbonnet Babies and Overall Boys" as portrayed by ten little girls and ten little boys of the primary room. Each little Miss was attired in colorful sunbonnet and old fashioned dresses and each little lad was decked out in overalls and straw hats and all entered into the spirit and rhythm of the number with delightful grace. Solos by Marion Peters and Ruth Gee and a duet by Marion Peters and Eleanor Knox were exceptionally well rendered and were enthusiastically received by the audience. Miss Masters here again played the piano accompaniment.

Following the program, candy bars were served to the children and to many of the grownups as well, as the personal gift of the president.

The year just closed has been an active year for the organization and considering the general conditions a very successful one. Though no meetings will be held during the summer months, the standing committees will continue to function as well as the Welfare Clinic. During this period of rest, plans will be carefully laid to make the opening meeting in September one to be looked forward to.

NEW LENOX

The New Lenox Community League will hold a meeting Sunday night at 8 o'clock. On Thursday evening a weiner roast and treasure hunt by automobile was held at the scout cabin in the camp ground.

The Maple Street Arbor of Ancient Order of Gleaners will sponsor a community dance in the Colonial dance hall, May 30th.

The New Lenox Parent-Teacher Association met in the school auditorium Friday night. The treasurer read the annual report. The proposed amendments to the by-laws were read and voted on. Reports on the convention at Danville were given. The primary room received the picture awarded to the room having the largest percentage of parents present during the year. The program was a round table discussion on human education. Miss Ina MacFarland read the installation ceremonies for the following officers: President, Mrs. Frank Roblin; vice-president, Mrs. Fred Sperling; treasurer, Mrs. Archie Corp; recording secretary, Mrs. Amos Bruns; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Harold Donnelly; program chairman, Mrs. Herbert Bruns; publicity chairman, Mrs. Nora Pankratz; finance chairman, Mrs. Fred Sperling; membership committee, Mrs. Warner McIntyre; Dr. Janette Holt, Mrs. Frank Roblin; publication, Mrs. Earl Strausberg.

Dr. Janette Holt and Mrs. Lynn Warner were appointed to act on the committee to register the association for a summer roundup.

The school picnic will be held on June first at Nowell Park.

The Will County Sacred Choral Society was organized in the M. E. church under the direction of Erwyn

R. Whitaker. Its purpose is to organize people who are interested in stimulating chorus and choir work in churches. All denominations are invited. After June first a waiting list will be open by the director and selections made by him. Meetings are held at the M. E. church every Monday night at 7:45 o'clock daylight saving time.

Miss Lois Mollwell of Forest, Illinois spent the week here with friends. George Kennedy is on the sick list.

The final examinations in the New Lenox grade school were completed this week. The annual commencement exercises will be held Friday night, June 2nd in the school auditorium. The Rev. John Dingle, pastor of the M. E. church will give the address.

Miss Mildred Butler and Miss Bessie Culver, who recently graduated from the Silver Cross training school for nurses, were the honored guests at a five o'clock dinner Sunday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Butler. Seventeen guests were seated at a long table in the spacious dining room, where a three course dinner was served. The living room and dining room were decorated with spring flowers.

GIRLS DON'T BE SKINNY! GET SOME CURVES!!

Fill out those thin places and get the pretty curves men admire. Take Vinol (iron tonic) and you'll be surprised how your figure improves. Tastes delicious. R. Hensel, druggist; in Tinley Park by H. C. Vogt; in Frankfort by Scheer & Stellwagen.

LADIES ATTENTION

The success of your Permanent Wave depends upon expert work and the quality of materials used. We are pleased to present the REVIVA-TONE PERMANENT. The solution used for this wave contains no ammonia, borax or ingredient that will in any way injure the softest, coarsest, white or gray hair. It is the perfect wave for all shades and textures of hair and will revitalize and nourish any hair retaining a part of a former permanent. It is without a doubt the most modern and advanced step in waving. Leaves the hair lustrous, soft and beautiful. SPECIAL AT $4.00

Other waves are priced as follows:

R-OWN OIL WAVE	$2.00
FRENCH SPECIAL	$3.00
REALISTIC	$4.00
FREDERIC	$5.00

We have just added a new Frederic Automatic Heat Control Permanent Waving Machine to our many modern and up-to-date appliances.

IDEAL BEAUTY SHOP

ALMA M. BRUEGEMAN, Prop.
(UPSTAIRS)

Phone C. H. 2531 34 Illinois Street, Chicago Heights, Ill.

Rialto Theatre Offers Attractive Bill

The Rialto Theatre, Joliet is offering the following bill for the coming week:

Sunday and Monday, May 28-29 "Out All Night" with Slim Summerville, Zasu Pitts.

The advertising line, "All Star Cast", so often used indiscriminately in describing what in reality is a "no star" cast, is used in its correct meaning in the case of "Out All Night", the Universal production starring Slim Summerville and Zasu Pitts.

Zasu Pitts at the Rialto Theatre in Joliet.

George Arliss in "The Working Man" and Mary Pickford in "Secrets" will be the attraction at the Rialto Theatre in Joliet on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 1, 2, 3.

At the Princess Theatre in Joliet the offering for Sunday only will be "Soldiers of the Storm" with Regis Toomey-Anita Page. Monday and Tuesday "Broadway Bad", with Joan Blondell and Ricardo Cortez. Wednesday and Thursday "Terror Aboard" with Neil Hamilton-Charles Ruggles. Friday and Saturday, "Rustler's Roundup" with Tom Mix.

DANCE

Mokena Pavilion

Wolf Road, Mokena, Illinois

Sat. May 27, 1933

MUSIC BY LOU MORK AND HIS BUCANNEERS

ADMISSION 55c PER COUPLE
DANCING 8:30 to 1 A. M., STANDARD TIME

Pillsbury's Best Flour

on Sale for 3 days only
May 26th, 27th and 29th

$5.98 per barrel at $1.57 per 48 lbs.
$3.05 per 98 lbs. 79c per 24 lbs.
18c for 5 lbs.

Vogt's Dept. Store,
Phone 75 TINLEY PARK, ILL.

FUNK & ADLER

Funeral Directors
OAK FOREST, ILLINOIS

We wish to announce that we are continuing our services to the people in the community. Mr. Orville Schmadeke is no longer representing us at Orland Park, Illinois. In the future will be glad to serve personally the needs of the community in those hours when dignified, respectful service from an old friend is most appreciated.

Mr. William Funk

To Call Mr. Funk

Phone Tinley Park 22-W1

LIVERY

AMBULANCE

Spring Time Is Paint Time

Now is the time to have a new coat of paint put on your house or barn and brighten up your place, also to have your interior decorating done. I am in a position to give you a first class job in workmanship and I use the very best of painting material at prices that are reasonable with good work and material. I will be pleased to give you a free estimate on your work.

Prices Have Never Been Lower Than Today.

Chas. Hollwedel, Oak Park Avenue
Tinley Park Tel. 93-M

Baby Chix Baby Chix

Pure Bred Blood Tested

Big husky chicks that will live to Grow into Money Makers.

Take Advantage Of May And June Price Reductions

CUSTOM HATCHING 2 CENTS. Visitors Always Welcome

FRANKFORT HATCHERY

C. A. McArthur, Proprietor FRANKFORT, ILL.

Henry Ford
Dearborn, Mich.

May 15, 1933

Time and again I am told—by my own organization and by others—that I penalize myself by quality.

Friendly critics protest our putting into the Ford V-8 what they call "twenty-year steel." They say such quality is not necessary; the public does not expect it; and that the public does not know the difference anyway.

But I know the difference.

I know that the car a man sees is not the car he drives—he drives the car which the engineer sees. The car which is seen, comprises beauty of design, color and attractive accessories,—all desirable, of course. The best evidence that we think so is that they are all found on the Ford V-8.

But these are not the car. The car proper, which is the basis of all the rest, is the type of engine and its reliability; the structure of chassis and body, ruggedly durable; the long thought and experiment given to safety factors; the steady development of comfort, convenience and economy. These make the car.

A car can be built that will last two or three years. But we have never built one. We want the basic material of our car to be as dependable the day it is discarded as the day it is bought. Ford cars built 15 years ago are still on the road. It costs more to build a durable car—but two items we do not skimp are cost and conscience. A great many things could "get by"—the public would never know the difference. But we would know.

The new Ford V-8 is a car that I endorse without any hesitancy. I know what is in it. I trust our whole thirty years' reputation with it. It is even better than our previous V-8. It is larger, more rugged and mechanically a better job all round.

I readily say this in an advertisement because I know the car will back it up.

Henry Ford

ILLINOIS
State News

Crossing the shoals provided by a stubborn if small minority, the tax protest bill drawn to prevent a recurrence of tax strikes in Chicago was passed by the house of representatives by a vote of 109 to 14. Having received senate approval, the bill went to Governor Horner. Drawn by Corporation Counsel Sexton of Chicago under the fostering hands of Governor Horner and Mayor Edward J. Kelly, the bill was termed an economy measure because it would force tax objectors to pay 75 per cent of their levy before filing a protest against the assessment. Hence protests would not be nearly as numerous in the future, it was assumed.

The Illinois state sales tax was knocked out by the State Supreme court. All seven members of the court joined in the opinion declaring the act unconstitutional. The specific point upon which the bill was killed was that exemption of "farm produce sold by the producer thereof" and of automobile gasoline was class legislation. After he had read the opinion closely, Attorney General Kerner issued a statement indicating definitely that, in view of the unanimity and the unqualified nature of the ruling, he will not ask for a rehearing.

Defeat of a bill to fix a prevailing rate of wages on state public works was advocated in a bulletin by the Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency. The measure is now under consideration in the legislature. The bulletin held that enactment would be a "cruel futility" and would deprive "thousands of men of desperately needed employment pending court decision."

Governor Horner announced the appointment of O. H. Lewis as superintendent of the state reformatory at Pontiac, to succeed Oren Coleman. The new superintendent is a brother of State Representative Louie Lewis of Sesser.

Four banks in Illinois were authorized by State Auditor Richard J. Barrett to reopen on an unrestricted basis. They are the State Bank of Sannem, the Farmers' State Bank and Trust company at Jacksonville, the Foremost State Bank at Forreston and the State Bank of Lenzburg at Lenzburg.

Appointments announced by Governor Horner's office included the following: Dr. William P. Forkin of Chicago, assistant managing officer Jacksonville State hospital; Fred Helmich of Chicago, oil inspector; James O'Brien of Chicago, inspector of private employment agencies; Thomas J. Ross of Chicago, grain clerk.

By a vote of 115 to 4 the permanent registration bill applying to Illinois cities having election boards, including Chicago, was passed by the house of representatives.

The bulletin of the Legislative Voters' league urged state senate approval of the Ickes bill to place administrators in all counties on salaries instead of on the present fee basis. It has passed the house by a vote of 101 to 19.

State Senator Clifford J. Vogelsang, thirty-eight, Taylorville, died after an operation for appendicitis.

The general assembly completed the enactment of a law giving Ernest Palmer, superintendent of insurance, "with the approval and by the direction of the governor," virtual dictatorship over the operations of insurance companies in Illinois. It conveys authority to "adopt, promulgate, modify, enforce, or rescind from time to time such rules as may be necessary for the purpose of maintaining safe and sound methods" in the insurance field and provides for the extension of farm and homestead mortgages held by insurance companies.

STATE BREVITIES

Morris, by a vote of 851 to 386, rejected daylight saving time at a special election.

A fifty-three-year-old hired hand's brooding love for a farm girl who had grown to fear and abhor him, was the explanation of Coroner Herman J. Vierende of Kane county for the double tragedy on John Schmitz' dairy farm at Plato Center, near Elgin. Oliver Day, the hired hand, killed Schmitz with a shotgun and then compelled the victim's seventeen-year-old daughter, Loretta, to shoot and fatally wound him.

A verdict of suicide while despondent over financial difficulties was returned by a coroner's jury in Elgin in the death of Chester W. Wilson, thirty-four years old, of Sycamore, in an Elgin hotel room.

Hiram A. Brooks, sixty-seven, commissioner of public health and safety of Dixon, died at the Dixon hospital of a throat infection.

Maurice Meyer, twenty-seven, was found guilty by Judge Leonard E. Telleen in Rock Island County Circuit court of the sack murder of Miss Rose Gendler, twenty-two, department store clerk and lifelong acquaintance of the defendant. Meyer's penalty was fixed at 90 years.

Prof. Henry B. Ward, head of the zoology department of the University of Illinois since 1909, will retire next fall, having reached the retiring age limit of sixty-eight last March.

Jonas Baer, eighty, Sterling township supervisor for the last 22 years, died.

CHILDREN'S STORYBy
THORNTON W. BURGESSPETER HAS TO LAUGH
AT HIMSELF

IF EVER in all his life Peter Rabbit was sure of a thing he was sure that that dark gray form he had seen vanish under an old log not far off was a Mole. It wasn't big enough for Miner himself but it might be one of his children, and Peter was certain, absolutely certain it was. That is why he had so flatly and impolitely contradicted Happy Jack Squirrel when the latter had said that it was Short-Tail the Shrew. Not even when a sharp squeaky voice from under the log asked what Happy Jack and Striped Chipmunk were laughing at, and Happy Jack replied that they were laughing at Peter's long-time mistake, did Peter believe he was wrong.

"They are laughing because I said that you are a member of Miner the Mole's family," cried Peter. "Come out and show yourself and then we'll laugh at them."

At that Happy Jack and Striped Chipmunk laughed harder than ever and from under the old log came sounds which were suspiciously like high squeaky laughter.

"Yes, do come out just for fun and see who will do the laughing."

"Is it perfectly safe out there?" asked the sharp squeaky voice.

"If it wasn't do you suppose I would be sitting out here in the open?" demanded Striped Chipmunk.

"It is pretty bright out there. You know I don't like the sun. I don't like it at all," complained the sharp squeaky voice.

For a Long Minute Peter Stared.

"There isn't enough sun to hurt you," retorted Happy Jack. "You can keep in the shade. Come out and meet Peter Rabbit."

"I don't need to meet Peter Rabbit," squeaked the sharp voice under the log. "I know all I need to know about him. I've seen him so often that I had just as soon not see him again for a while."

"Huh!" exclaimed Peter. "I don't care anything about meeting you. You're nothing but a Mole anyway."

"I'm a Mole, am I?" squeaked the sharp voice angrily. "I'm a Mole, am I? I'll have you to know I'm nothing of the kind. Miner's family may be all right but I'm thankful to say that I am not even a connection. It's time, Peter Rabbit, that you knew the

"Some men owe everything they have to their wives," says ironic Irene, "while others married women who didn't have anything the husband could borrow."

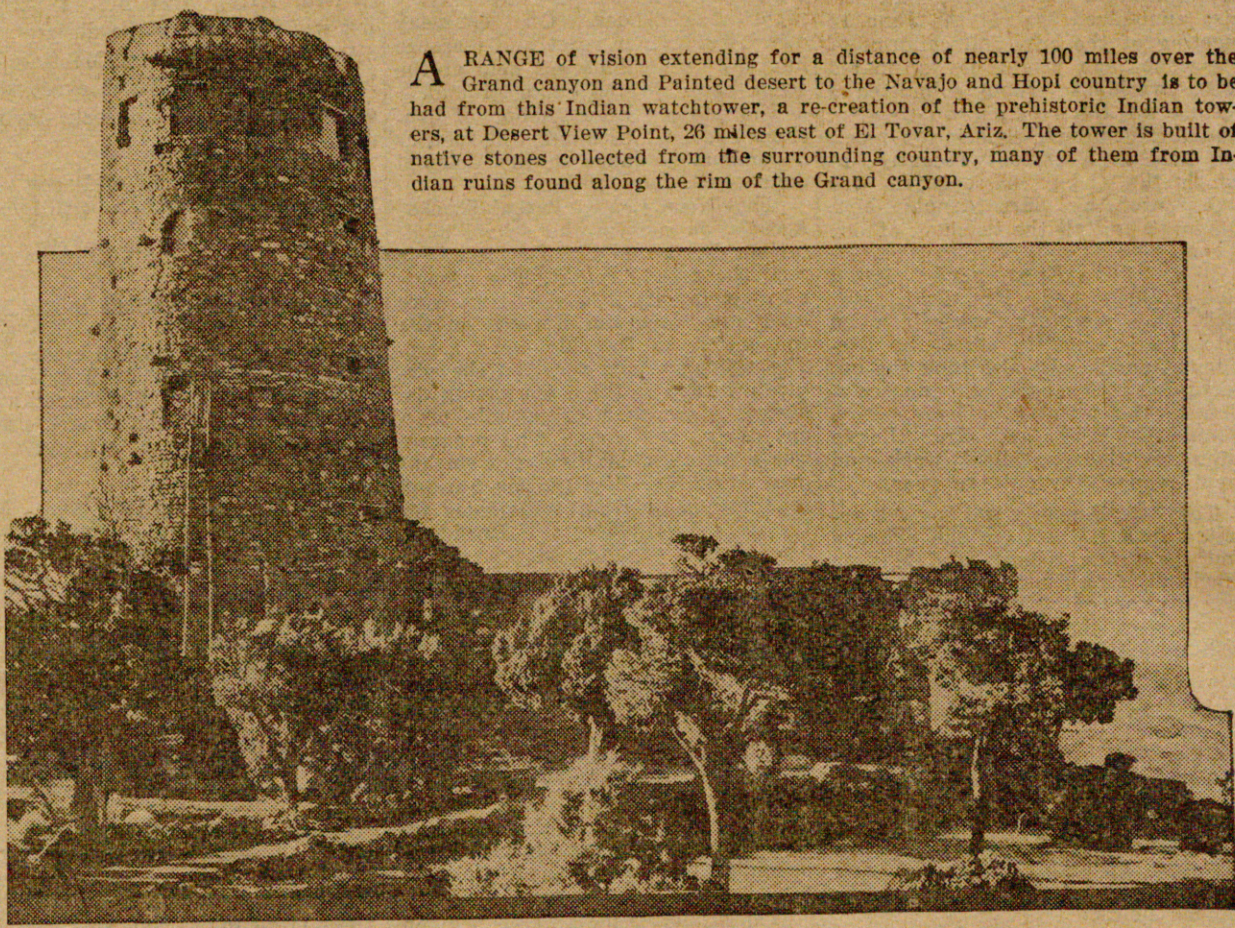

© 1933, Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

Forestry Camp Set Up in Virginia

VIEW of part of the reforestation camp at Luray, Va., and some of its 200 members of the great forestry army that has taken in many thousands of men who were without employment until President Roosevelt's plan was put into operation throughout the country.

Prehistoric Hopi Indian Tower Reconstructed

A RANGE of vision extending for a distance of nearly 100 miles over the Grand canyon and Painted desert to the Navajo and Hopi country is to be had from this Indian watchtower, a re-creation of the prehistoric Indian towers, at Desert View Point, 26 miles east of El Tovar, Ariz. The tower is built of native stones collected from the surrounding country, many of them from Indian ruins found along the rim of the Grand canyon.

I DO NOT KNOW

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

I DO not know I envy so the wisdom of the wise Who have by heart the rules of art, compare, and criticize. Some things, no doubt, are wrong about a ballad or a rose, But I am glad the faults they had I'm not the one who knows.

I'm not so sure that things endure because of perfect line Or perfect tone—that these alone have helped this heart of mine. Perhaps the things a shepherd sings are faulty songs at best, And yet some word of his has stirred an answer in my breast.

I'm not the one, his singing done, to say if poor or well He sang his lay this summer's day—because I cannot tell.

I know a note brought to my throat a sigh, mist to my eyes—I do not know I envy so the wisdom of the wise.

© 1933, Douglas Malloch.—WNU Service.

ing on for a few inches ahead of it. This insures him a true swing in a direct path for the pin.

© 1933, Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

VEGETABLES

AS THERE are so many people nowadays who eat little or no meat, one may find what is called the "vegetable plate" in most restaurants which serve three to five different kinds, well seasoned and cooked and this supplies a good main dish. More and more vegetables is what our bodies need to give them the right kind of roughage, as well as the vitamins and minerals so important to health.

Creamed Celery.

Take the coarser stalks which are not perfect enough to serve au naturel, cook in a very little water and serve with butter sauce, or with a rich, white sauce, adding grated cheese for variety. A few of the white tender leaves may be served scattered over the dish for garnish if desired.

Carrots in Parsley Butter.

Take eight or ten carrots, wash and scrape, cut into dice or into slices. Cook in a small quantity of boiling water lightly salted, until tender. Melt one-fourth of a cupful of butter, add one to two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and one tablespoonful of finely minced parsley. Pour over the carrots and serve hot.

Carrots and Apples.

Take six carrots and six apples (the tart kind), cut carrots into shoe-strings and core the unpeeled apples; cut into one-fourth-inch slices. Place a layer of apples in a hot frying pan with two tablespoonfuls of sweet fat, cover with the carrots, season with a tablespoonful of sugar, salt and cayenne to taste. Cook, turning when browned to the other side. Serve on a platter with a layer of each, so that the layers may be lifted together.

Dandelion Greens.

Wash greens, cut fine with scissors. Place four tablespoonfuls of bacon fat in a frying pan, add one-fourth cupful of mild vinegar and a teaspoonful of salt. Cover after dropping in the drained greens, when wilted serve at once.

© 1933, Western Newspaper Union.

Coats Are Bloused

An instance of where extremes meet in fashion is to be observed on the style horizon and it is indicated in the latest introduction of a definite blousing in the models of certain French coats and dresses. It is to be seen only to a very limited degree as yet, another trout fashion, but it registers.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

NOT APPROVED

RYAN, the head of the school, scanned the report card before him with troubled eyes.

"Hm-m. Looks all right. Gets high marks in all his subjects. Has an A in conduct, too. Teacher thinks he ought to be promoted. Guess he ought to be. Very smart boy. But I don't like him."

"Not a very good reason for holding him back. He can do his work. No, I'll promote him. But I don't like him. I hate not to like a boy. Well, here goes." "Old Ryan" wrote across the face of the report card, "Promoted. T. R." Then directly underneath he wrote, "Not approved. T. R."

That afternoon a very puzzled boy visited Ryan. "Mr. Ryan, you wrote not approved on my card. How can you write that and still promote me? If I am fit to be promoted during the term don't you think I deserve your approval?"

"No, I don't. If I had thought so I'd have said so. I didn't think so and I said so. Sit down. I expected you."

"You see, Mr. Ryan, I have to show that card to my parents and they will want to know what it means and I'm sure I don't know. I think it very unfair of you. And I'm certain my father will think so, too."

"Are you?" said Ryan dryly. "I know your father well. I have a notion that he is going to agree with me. You see, Sampson, you are determined to get ahead, to be first always. That isn't a bad idea if you arrive without hurting or hindering anybody else. Winning the game is great but if you break the rules of the game to win you're a bouncer and you won't be approved."

"I don't know what you mean. I worked overtime and did two terms in one. What's wrong about that?"

"Only this. You used two other boys to help you make the grade. You agreed to help them if they helped you. They did their share and more. You saw to that. Phelps did so much helping you that he had no time left to help himself. Phillips the same. You told them you couldn't find time to help them but you took care always to see that they helped you. You made the grade and they didn't. I promoted you but I didn't approve you. That's all."

I agreed with Old Ryan. It is time we scanned the records and withheld approval of all those whose achievements have been made at the cost of other people. School is a good place to begin.

A PEACEFUL ROOM

I WOULD give a child a peaceful room where he could go to rest and feel himself safe and still.

I like pretty rooms. I like color and the forms of lovely things. What I fear in the children's rooms is the fussiness, the crowded activity that is in the decorations. Children like animals and Mother Goose rhymes. They like the pictures that suggest these old friends. But do you think it is wise to paint the walls of their rooms with trumpeting elephants, charging lions, spouting whales and fairy goblins? I don't. Those pictures please the grownups but I am not so certain that they have a good effect on tired children.

If there is a playroom whose walls can be dressed with all the animals from the zoo, well and good. Decorations that caused no ripple of thought in daytime stimulate fear in the shadows of night. In my experience such things are best kept out of the child's sleeping room. If there is to be a frieze let it be a gentle scheme, soothing and serene in its atmosphere.

A clutter of toys is out of place in the child's sleeping room. We want that room to express rest, peace, quiet. Disorder makes one restless and a tired child is restless enough without adding anything to increase his fatigue. Every object he rests his eyes on stimulates him anew when we want to shut off all stimulation and induce sleep. Have the sleeping room comparatively bare, of soft color, serene atmosphere, and it will do its full share in restoring peace and quiet to the child who so much needs them.

The lighting of the room is very important. It is unwise to allow light to shine in the child's face. Some arrangement to soften the light and still allow plenty of air to circulate about the room is needed.

The bed itself is the chief article of furniture. Have it as near right as possible. That means a rather hard, firm mattress, a flat pillow, if any, and lightweight warm coverings. The mattress and spring are more important than the frame. Spend the money for them and take a sturdy simple frame that will stand up against hard usage.

Simplicity ought to be the keynote of decoration in the children's rooms. The simpler the better. Color and line and mood are not expensive but they are essential to the peaceful, restful room a child needs for a good night's sleep. Sometimes we spend more money than thought and the result doesn't justify us.

© Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

BONERS

Isolation is putting cold packs around a person.

BONERS are actual humorous tid-bits found in examination papers, essays, etc., by teachers.

Alexander's ambition was to conquer all the world, or as much as possible, and to make a great empire.

What happened to Athelstane and why was he taken out of the story (Ivanhoe) at this time?

He was knocked down by the temple in a fight and was taken out of the story because he was dead.

Quarantine is a promise of money refunded if not satisfactory.

You like things you can eat. You love things you can't eat. I love my little dog.

The kafirs of Africa are a very savage race. In time of war they beat their tum-tums and can be heard for many miles around.

The social ladder of the Egyptians was used in building pyramids.

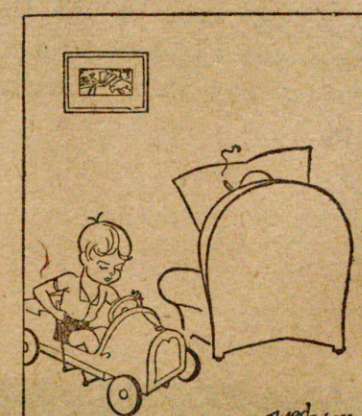

© 1933, Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

For the Small Boy

This many little suit is trimmed with rows of stitching on the neck and sleeves. The stitching is done with a very heavy six-cord thread so that it will stand out well.

DADA KNOWS—

"Pop, what is a loan?"
"Usually a case of give and forget."
© 1933, Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

WREATHS of MEMORY

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

MAY 30 is the day when America pays tribute to her warrior dead by decorating their graves with flowers, thus giving to that date the name of Memorial day or Decoration day. Originally established as a day for honoring the memory of those who lost their lives in the great conflict which raged from 1861 to 1865, it is now a day for remembering all who gave their lives for their country, and the Indian wars, the Spanish-American war and the World War have given a deeper significance to Memorial day for thousands of American families.

Because there are still thousands of survivors of these wars to help keep green the memories and the graves of their comrades in arms, we have become accustomed to thinking of Memorial day as a day set aside for honoring only the warrior dead of these conflicts. Time has somewhat dimmed the memory of the heroic dead of the Revolution, the War of 1812, the Mexican war and the earlier Indian wars and the graves of thousands of them are unmarked and forgotten. So we cannot decorate their graves with flowers, even if we would honor them as we honor the heroic dead of later wars. But we can pay our tribute to them in the form of wreaths of memory, in recalling, if only for this day, what they did for our country and offering up to them our measure of deepest gratitude for the lives which they so freely gave in its defense.

Lay one of these wreaths of memory upon the grave of Capt. James Lawrence! For it was just 120 years ago that this young naval officer, dropping mortally wounded to the bloody decks of the ill-starred U. S. S. Chesapeake, uttered the words which were to become a watchword of the United States navy and one of the most famous phrases in American history—"Don't give up the ship!"

Lawrence was born in Burlington, N. J., in 1781. Destined by his family to become a lawyer, at the early age of twelve he developed a passionate desire to enter the newly created United States navy. But in obedience to the desires of his family he applied himself to the study of law until in 1798 when at length they released him from his legal studies and secured a midshipman's warrant in the navy for him.

His first service was on the frigate Ganges during the troubles with France and he had a part in the capture of several French privateersmen. But Lawrence's first taste of real fighting came during the war with the Barbary pirates from 1803 to 1805 in which he more than once distinguished himself as a lieutenant under Isaac Hull, Stephen Decatur and John Rodgers.

In 1808 he was made first lieutenant of the Constitution and his services on the famous Old Ironsides marked the last subordinate place he held. The next year he was placed in command of the Vixen which he exchanged for the Wasp and finally the Argus. In 1811 he got the Hornet, a fast and beautiful little cruiser, carrying 18 guns, and he was in command of her when the long-expected declaration of war with England came in 1812.

In February, 1813, Lawrence, with the Hornet, fought an engagement with the British ship Peacock which resulted in a complete victory for the young American commander and won for him not only the freedom of the city of New York, a handsome piece of plate and a gold medal from that municipality but also the thanks of congress. But this was the last glimpse of brightness in Lawrence's short life. He had hoped to be placed in command of the Constitution but his hopes were dashed when he was ordered to take command of the Chesapeake, then being fitted out for service at Boston.

The Chesapeake was the "hoodoo ship" of the United States navy at that time. From the very first she had been an unpopular ship, for she was thought to be weak for her size and she was a very ordinary sailer. On June 22, 1813, while under the command of Commodore James Barron, the Chesapeake was an actor in a mortifying event which was to have far-reaching results. On that date she was stopped by the

DON'T GIVE UP THE SHIP

1. Albert Halstead, American consul general at Plymouth, England, opening the "door of unity" leading to the Pryston house of St. Andrews church. The service was unique in the history of the church because of its international character. Coincidentally with the opening of the door, the unveiling of the memorial to two American naval officers who were buried on the spot in 1813 took place.

2. Capt. James Lawrence, the heroic young American naval commander who lost his life in the battle between the Chesapeake and the Shannon during the War of 1812.

3. England's peace link with America. The picture shows Vice Admiral Burrage of the U. S. S. Detroit talking with the mayor priest of the city of Plymouth, England, on the occasion of the unveiling of a memorial tablet to American prisoners of war who died in the Dartmouth prison there during the War of 1812. The tablet was unveiled in 1928 by Mrs. Samuel Williams Earle, a descendant of Roger Williams and an official of the United States Daughters of the War of 1812.

4. The famous battle flag with its motto of "Don't Give Up the Ship" flown by Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry in his victory over the British at the Battle of Lake Erie. The flag is preserved at the United States Naval academy at Annapolis, Md.

British ship Leopard on the excuse that three members of her crew were deserters from the British frigate Melanops.

There had been great negligence in preparing the Chesapeake for sea and she was in no condition to resist the demands of the commander of the Leopard. So when Commodore Barron cleared the ship for action, the Chesapeake fell an easy victim to the broadsides of the Leopard and was forced to strike her flag after suffering a loss of 18 wounded and three killed. Then the Leopard sent a party aboard, seized the three alleged deserters and made off while the disgraced Chesapeake returned to Norfolk, Va.

Since this incident the Chesapeake had become more and more an object of dislike in the navy. The sailors hated her and would not enlist in her if they could help it. No officer would serve on her decks if he could avoid it, consequently she was officered by juniors who had to take her because they could do no better.

No wonder then that Lawrence was dismayed when he was assigned to the Chesapeake. He begged to remain with the Hornet but his request was denied. So in May, 1813, he took command.

Lawrence found the ship short of officers and those he had were very young. His first lieutenant, August Ludlow, was only twenty-one and had never before served as first lieutenant on a frigate. His other officers were midshipmen serving as lieutenants. His crew was largely made up of foreigners and one, a Portuguese boatswain's mate, was actively preaching dissension because the crew had not been paid the small amount of prize money due from the last cruise.

So it must have been with considerable foreboding that the young officer prepared to leave Boston late in May, 1813. Outside the harbor it was known that the British frigate Shannon, commanded by Capt. Philip Broke, one of the best officers in the British navy, was lying in wait for the Chesapeake. Broke was a chivalrous man and he had written Lawrence a letter proposing a meeting on equal terms in any latitude and longitude at any time he might choose during the next two months. Unfortunately this letter never reached Lawrence.

So on June 1 the Shannon stood in toward President's Roads, expecting an answer from Broke's challenge. Lawrence, however, took the Shannon's presence there as a challenge to an immediate fight and made sail to go out and meet her. Hoisting a flag bearing the inscription "Free trade and sailors' rights," Lawrence ordered the ship cleared for action and sailed out of the harbor. About 30 miles beyond Boston Light the two ships began maneuvering for position and at length being fairly alongside and not more than 50 yards apart, the Shannon fired her first broadside which was immediately answered by the Chesapeake.

The effect of these first broadsides at such close range was terrific. Three men, one after another, were shot down at the Chesapeake's wheel. Within six minutes her sails were so shot to pieces that she drifted into a position which allowed the Shannon to rake her repeatedly. In a short time Lawrence was shot in the leg but managed to stay on deck and continue in command. Then the sailing master, the first lieutenant, another lieutenant, the marine officer and the boatswain were all mortally wounded.

The Shannon had also been badly damaged but she closed in on the Chesapeake and Broke ordered the ships lashed together. It is said that this was done by the Shannon's boatswain who had his arm literally hacked off in doing it but he did not flinch from his task until it was done. As soon as the American commander saw that the ships were fast together he ordered his men to board the Shannon. But just at this moment Lawrence, conspicuous in his full-dress uniform, was shot through the body by one of the enemy and fell to the deck. As he was being carried below he uttered his immortal words, "Don't give up the ship!"

But his admonition was hopeless for the carnage on the Chesapeake's deck was frightful. Seeing that his enemy was virtually helpless, Broke gave the command to board and himself led the boarders. The cowardly Portuguese mate and some of the others made no attempt to resist but a few marines put up a desperate resistance, during which Broke was severely wounded, until they were cut down to a man. The officers of the gun deck tried to rally the men below, but failed and a moment later the Chesapeake's flag was hauled down by the British.

The battle had lasted only about fifteen minutes but seldom in the history of naval warfare had there been such a dreadful slaughter. The Chesapeake had lost ten officers killed and all the rest wounded and 136 men killed and wounded. The Shannon's loss was several officers killed, her commander badly wounded and 75 men killed and wounded.

The British flag was hoisted over the ill-fated American vessel and she was taken to Halifax. For four days Lawrence lingered on in great anguish but bearing his sufferings with the greatest heroism and never speaking except to make known his few wants. On the Shannon lay his chivalrous foe, raving with delirium from his wounds. At times he would ask anxiously for Lawrence, muttering, "He brought his ship into action in gallant style." When Lawrence finally died, it was thought best to keep that fact from Broke lest it add to his distress.

On Sunday, June 6, the conquering Shannon and the conquered Chesapeake entered the harbor of Halifax. On the quarterdeck of the Chesapeake lay the body of her young commander wrapped in her battle flag. His funeral was held on June 8 and the British naval and military authorities paid every respect to their gallant young foe.

In August Lawrence's body and that of his faithful lieutenant, Ludlow, were transferred to Salem, Mass., where they were buried temporarily until they could be transferred to New York. Eventually they were buried in historic old Trinity churchyard in New York city and there they lie to this day.

It is a far cry from the surging crowds of Wall street which pass the tomb of James Lawrence in Trinity churchyard every day to the quiet little village of Wickham in the Meon valley, South Hampshire, England. But there is a link between the two just as recent years have seen many links in the chain of Anglo-American friendship which have buried forever the animosities of a century and a quarter ago. That link is an old mill made from the timbers of the ill-fated American frigate Chesapeake which was brought from Halifax to Portsmouth as a prize. So a mill which for more than a hundred years has been engaged in the peaceful business of providing bread for a quiet English countryside is a memorial to one of the most famous ship duels in history and it is also a memorial to a gallant young American warrior, Capt. James Lawrence.

(© by Western Newspaper Union.)

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
©, 1933, Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for May 28

JESUS AND HIS FRIENDS

LESSON TEXT—Mark 13:1-14:9.
GOLDEN TEXT—Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you. John 15:14.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Some Friends of Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus an Honored Guest.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Being a Friend of Jesus.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Showing Our Friendship for Jesus.

A better title for this lesson would suggest Jesus as giving a prophetic outline of events in the interval between his crucifixion and his second coming.

1. The Occasion of the Prophecy (vv. 1-4).

As Jesus was passing out of the temple for the last time on his way to the Mount of Olives where he gave this discourse, the disciples reminded him of the splendor of the building, to which he replied that not one stone should be left upon another. When seated upon the Mount, the disciples came privately, according to Matthew 24:3, with a threefold question requesting further information.

1. "When shall these things be?"
2. "What shall be the sign of thy coming?"
3. "The end of the age?"

That which follows is given in answer to these three questions.

II. The Characteristics of the Age Between the Crucifixion and Christ's Second Coming (vv. 5-23).

1. The appearance of many deceivers (vv. 5, 6). Many false Christs have pressed their claims as being the Messiah since Jesus went back to heaven. As this age draws to a close we may expect these claims to increase.

2. Wars and strife among the nations (vv. 7, 8). The history of the centuries since Christ's crucifixion is written in blood.

3. Earthquakes, famines, and troubles (v. 8). Though these calamities grow increasingly severe as the days lengthen, the intelligent disciple is not surprised or alarmed for these are the precursors of a new order, the birth-pangs of a new age when the Kingdom of Christ shall be established on this earth. Let the believer in Christ in this time of darkness look up, for his redemption draweth nigh.

4. Dreadful persecutions (v. 9). God's witnesses shall be delivered up to councils, beaten in the synagogues, and shall be brought before rulers and kings for Christ's sake as a testimony against them.

5. Universal evangelism (v. 10). The gospel of the kingdom, according to Matthew 24:14, shall be preached in all the world for a witness. This is not the gospel of the grace of God which is now being preached, but a new evangelism which shall be proclaimed by elect Israelites immediately preceding the coming of Christ to establish his kingdom. (See Romans 11:13-15; Rev. 7:4-10.)

6. The universal hatred of the believing Israelites (vv. 11-13). They shall be severely persecuted. Civil government shall be against them. Their one duty notwithstanding shall be to preach the gospel of the kingdom, depending upon the Holy Spirit for wisdom and power. For this specific duty they are sealed with the seal of God in their foreheads (Rev. 7:3). This will be the real Pentecost of which the outpouring of the Spirit at the beginning of the church was a type (Joel 2:28-32; Acts 2:16).

7. The great tribulation (vv. 14-23). This is the consummation of the age immediately preceding the glorious appearing of Christ. Out of the missionary efforts of converted Israel shall eventuate the unparalleled horrors so vividly pictured here. Daniel's "abomination of desolation" is the Antichrist—"the man of sin" (Dan. 9:26, 27; Dan. 11:36; II Thess. 3:3, 4), who will direct this reign of terror.

III. The Glorious Return of the Lord (vv. 24-27).

Jesus' return is the superlative event, the one to which all prophecies have pointed and to which all ages are moving with unflinching precision.

IV. Application of the Prophecy (vv. 28-37).

1. As these events multiply in the earth, we know that the coming of the Lord draweth nigh (vv. 28, 29).

2. The Jewish race shall retain its integrity until the end (v. 30). The perpetuity of Israel is the miracle of the ages.

3. Certainty of fulfillment (v. 31). The unflinching guarantee of this is the words of Jesus Christ.

4. The time of Christ's coming is unknown (v. 32). In view of this fact it is folly to set the time.

5. The proper behavior in view of Christ's imminent coming (vv. 33-37) is watchfulness and prayer.

Life's Watch Towers

The watch towers of life are not all atop office buildings; some folks find them on a mountain, beside a quiet brook, or in the quietness of a pine forest where even the carpet of needles is silent to the tread.—Bok.

Christ Is Coming

"We are on the verge of the greatest event in the history of the church—we are on the verge of the coming of Christ; he may come at any moment."—Rev. E. L. Langston.

World in Turmoil Looks to Leaders

Restoration of Economic Activity in Hands of Individuals.

What is called the swing of the pendulum, by which is meant the lapse of time, is not a real assurance of renewed social and economic life. There must be something more, a combination of knowledge, daring and determination, a writer in the Boston Sunday Globe asserts. It is signs of such activity for which men look into the faces of their fellows and examine what they propose to do.

The seasons of the year seem to come automatically, but the sort of renewal for which all men are now yearning must be obtained through human effort. That is the explanation of the turmoil here and abroad. Great sections of humanity will their own restoration to tolerate conditions of living. They look here and there for leadership giving evidence of power to break through the hard crust that presses down the lives of multitudes.

The process is instinctive rather than reasoned, but that does not mean the intellect has no part in it. Never was more hard thinking done than now. Men and women, who let public affairs take care of themselves in ordinary times, are now stretching their brains to comprehend the problems of economics, the mysteries of finance.

New standards are being set for those in high public office. The negative virtues, so long regarded as sufficient, are not now expected to meet the demands.

Those who look for signs of spring in the economic life of their country and of the world at large must expect to find them in the lives of men. It is where a local leader rallies his community to face a problem and take hold of a task. Or when the executive of a factory, perhaps a very small establishment, sets himself to provide work for those who hope for it from him. The vitality that will break through the crust is of great variety. Like that which quickens the hillside and the valley, it is the power residing in many individuals. Some have attained high office and have also forgotten partisanship. Some have lived obscurely, but in such ways as to preserve the independence of their minds.

The signs of the spring that all desire are becoming manifest in the changing attitude of countless men and women, strong in the faith that this earth and all its goodness belongs to the people who inhabit it.

How to get to SLEEP

When you can't sleep, it's because your nerves won't let you. Don't waste time "counting sheep." Don't lose half your needed rest in reading. Take two tablets of Bayer Aspirin, drink a glass of water—and go to sleep.

This simple remedy is all that's needed to insure a night's rest. It's all you need to relieve a headache during the day—or to dispose of other pains. Get the genuine tablets of Bayer manufacture and you will get immediate relief.

Bayer Aspirin dissolves always immediately—gets to work without delay. This desirable speed is not dangerous; it does not depress the heart. Just be sure you get the genuine tablets stamped thus:

Motoring Hint

Keep this in mind when motoring and be prepared for it: A bee may sting you.

A FAMOUS MAN

OVER sixty years ago Dr. Pierce, whose picture appears here, placed in all the drug stores of this country his Favorite Prescription for women suffering from weakening cramps, monthly sickness, headaches, backaches, hot flashes. Women of all ages testify to its merits. What it has done for others, it should do for you. Try it now! This is one of Nature's remedies composed of roots and herbs and contains no alcohol.

If you want free medical advice, write to Dr. Pierce's Clinic in Buffalo, N. Y.

WNU—A

THE NEWS-BULLETIN

WM. SEMMLER, Editor & Publisher
Published Every Friday at
MOKENA, ILLINOIS

Entered as second class matter at the postoffice at Mokena, Illinois, under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE.
Per year, in advance$1.50
Six months, in advance75

A. M. Levy, Advertising Representative,
6 North Michigan ave., Chicago

FRIDAY, MAY 26, 1933

FOR SALE

FOR SALE OR TRADE—Drop head Singer sewing machine. J. A. Martin, Mokena, Ill. 3tp

WANTED—Suitable work for well grown boy of 16 years. Inquire Orland Park Herald, Tel. Mokena 6J

WANTED—Home for 12 year old boy on farm for summer, owing to illness of father. Quick, active and willing. Inquire News-Bulletin, Mokena, Ill.

WANTED—Odd jobs to do. B. F. Weedon, Mokena, Ill. 4t

WANTED—Ironings and plain sewing. Mrs. B. F. Weedon, Mokena, Ill.

FOR SALE—Hot Point, 3 burner electric stove, very reasonable. Tel. 25-W Orland.

FOR SALE—300 square feet of maple flooring in good condition, also 2 sills 8 in. x 8 in. and 32 ft. long. Reasonable. Inquire Walter Smith, Orland Park, Ill. 3tc

PLUMBING—HEATING
Contracting. We sell metal gutters, paint, oils, Mayflower refrigerators, oil burners. Bring us your plans and we give you a Free Estimate.
HENRY J. BETTENHAUSEN,
Phone 48-J TINLEY PARK, ILL.

FOR SALE—Harness oil 30c per gal. also have some of that good fly spray and disinfectant left. Harvey I. Cooper, Orland, Ill. 4tp

FOR RENT—4 room flat with bath room, all modern; possession June 1st. John Creer, Orland Park, Ill. 2tc

WANTED DOGS AND PUPPIES of all kinds. Smitty's Gas Station, Archer and McCarthy Road, Lemont, Ill. 12tp

FOR SALE

Pool table, complete with balls, cues, 10 foot tobacco case, 2 candy cases, candy back case, all in good condition and like new. Will sell cheap. Also soda fountain and cash register. George Yunker, Orland Park, Ill. Tel. Orland 123. 4tc

FOR SALE—5 ton hydraulic jack, 1 high pressure grease gun, 12 gauge automatic shot gun. Reasonable. Mrs. Edith Mau, Mokena, Ill. Tel. 28-R.

FOR SALE—Golden Oak player piano with 100 rolls. Cabinet, bench and stool. Cheap. Also electric Westinghouse automatic range. Both in excellent condition and like new. Call 119-R Tinley Park, Ill. 1c

FOR SALE—A few good Swiss and Jersey springers, Swiss heifers and bulls, all ages. Swiss are all pedigreed. Also have a few good horses. Herman Gee, Orland, Ill. Tel. 46-J-2 Orland Park. 4p.

FOR SALE—New Idea farm machinery, loaders, side deliveries and wagons. Also good used hay loader, nearly new. Fred E. Yunker, Orland Park, Tel. 52-W-2 ttc

FOR SALE—Choice cabbage and tomatoe plants, reasonably priced. Albert W. Zenke, 156th and 108th Ave., Orland Park, Ill. ttc

WANTED TO TRADE—1929 Buick sedan, excellent condition, for 1929 model Ford truck with long wheel base. English Bros. Garage, Tinley Park, Ill.

Putting the Tee in Telephone

Hotels with a telephone in every room are the accustomed thing. Now comes a golf course at Agua Caliente, Mexico, with a telephone at every tee, according to the photographer who took this picture. He further alleges that Mrs. E. L. Kaw, shown at the tenth tee, is telephoning her husband, former all-American football player, who is at the second tee half a mile away.

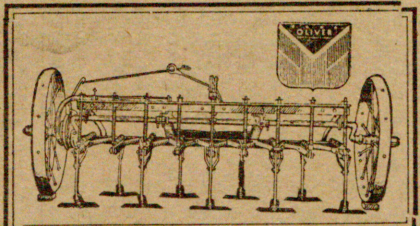

FOR ALL YOUR HOME NEWS, READ
THIS PAPER EVERY WEEK

DANCE

Saturday, May 27th
MUSIC BY G. W. SEIBERT
SEVEN PIECE ORCHESTRA
ADMISSION: GENTS 35c; LADIES FREE AT

Monee Auditorium

Thistle Cutting Should Be Easier

after using an Oliver Fallowator.
Raymond Warning
Phone 14 Frankfort

MOKENA

The Misses Helen and Minnie Eggers of Joliet spent Thursday in the home of their aunt Mrs. Miller. Mr. and Mrs. John Mattes, the latter's sister, Mrs. Albert Braun and another sister from Chicago expect to leave Saturday morning by motor to visit their mother in Mauston, Wis. and to help her celebrate her 75th birthday. They will also spend Memorial Day. They will be gone about ten days.

Orland Sets Auto License Deadline

June 15 has been set as the dead line for the collection of auto licenses in Orland Park. All those failing to pay by that time will be prosecuted by the village. So far only 33 out of 120 auto owners have paid their 1933 auto licenses.

R. I. Signal Cable Wires Cut at Mokena

Last Friday night trains on the Rock Island were stopped when signals at Mokena were out of commission. Upon investigation it was found that some one had cut the wires in a cable running from the depot to the signals.

Mokena Class Play Goes Over Big

The class play "Professor Pepp" presented by the high school students at the Mokena school auditorium last Friday night was well presented and was a big success in every way. All who had any part in its production are to be commended for their fine work.

Rare Tree In Bloom

Mr. L. W. Rauch of 2545 Grove street, Blue Island, Ill., has a very rare tree blooming on his place. It is known as the English 'Graphic' Hawthorn tree and is in full bloom now. The blossom resembles the Seven-Sister rose.

Mr. Rauch has his place beautifully landscaped, has a lovely fish pond, wild ducks and many lovely flowers. He claims to have the finest garden in Cook county. Last year, out of 766 gardens entered in the Tribune Garden Contest, he took second prize.

Mr. Rauch invites the public to visit his garden this Sunday and to see this rare tree in bloom.

TINLEY PARK

The M. C. Club met at the home of Mrs. Elmer Stelter Wednesday May 24.

Mrs. Cora Merwin who has been visiting with her sister Mrs. C. Scheer for the past two weeks returned to her home in Joliet Monday.

On Monday night May 22, the H. B. F. club members and a few of their friends, met at the home of Miss Mable Wilke to help her celebrate her birthday. A good time was enjoyed by all. Many beautiful gifts were received by the honored hostess.

Frank Hoeft who has been living here, has gone to live in Fairmont, Minn.

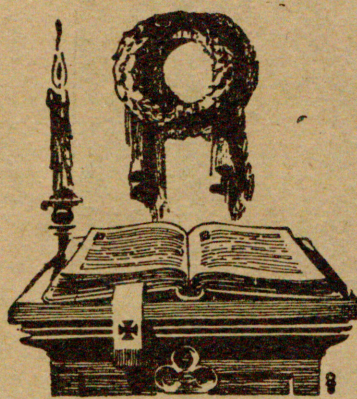

Rudolph Detwiler leaves this Saturday morning for St. Louis, Mo., on an auto trip.

The work of re-decorating the Saenger Hall is being pushed to completion by Mr. D. Hopman.

The Tinley Park public school will hold their commencement exercises June 19th.

Miss Ruth Funk who is taking a nurses training course in the St. Luke hospital, Chicago, has been visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Funk.

The Lions' Club meeting which was to have been held last Tuesday night, went by default. Watch for further announcement regarding meeting date.

Special Announcement

I wish to announce to the public in the Orland Park community I am now associated with the firm of Hirsch Bros. Tinley Park Licensed Embalmers and Funeral Directors.

Service noted for dignity and refined character is assured in all cases entrusted to us. The firm I am associated with are widely known for the fine quality of their work and excellence of their service.

ORVILL J. SCHMADEKE

Phone 108 Orland Park, Illinois

Flowers for Memorial Day

Potted plants and cut flowers suitable for grave decoration at reasonable prices.

Stockman's Greenhouse

Phone 14-R 17237 So. Oak Park Ave. Tinley Park, Ill.

SPECIAL SALE May 26 to 29

Tomatoes, Dellwood No. 2 2 for 17c
Peaches, Dellwood No. 2 1-2 17c
Pork and Beans Campbells 5c
Rice or Wheat Pops 2 for 15c
Coffee Maxwell House 27c
Coffee, Peaberry, fancy 2 lbs. 49c
Potatoes, Wisconsin White, peck 18c
Soap, O. K. 4c
Soap, Palmolive, 3 bars for 19c

G. F. Wannemacher

Phone 30

MOKENA, ILLINOIS

DANCING

at THE OAKS
119th Street and Route 4A
New Archer Avenue

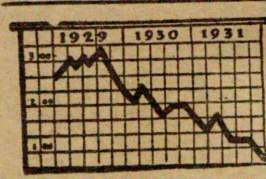

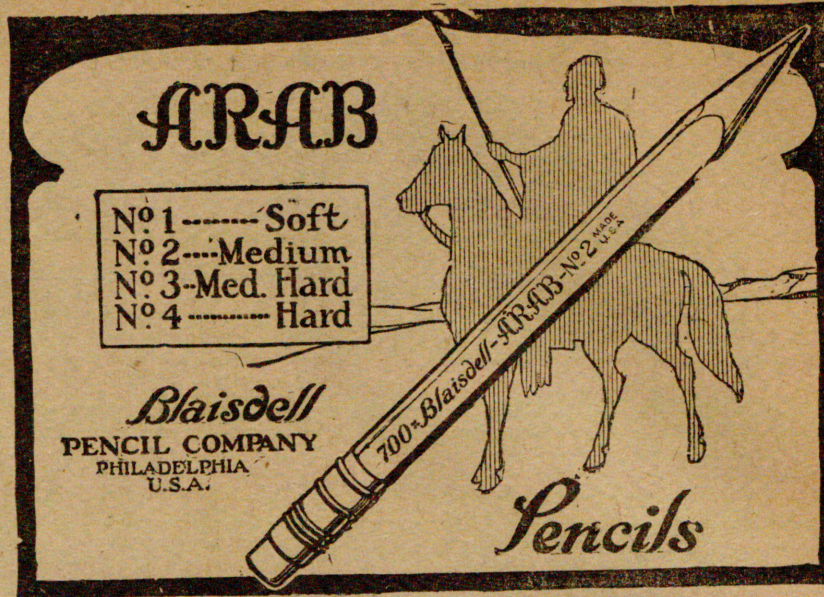

Management Frank G. King
Every Wed. Sat. and
Sunday Evenings

Ladies Admitted Free at all times

Admission Gentlemen 25c

Wardrobe Included

FREE PARKING FOR 1500 CARS

LET US PAINT OUT THE SIGNS OF DEPRESSION

It's surprising what a little paint will do to restore your optimism. A little touching up here—a little brightening up there—maybe a complete repainting—that's the way to brush away the signs of depression. Our prices are low for high grade work.

ASK FOR AN ESTIMATE

D. W. HOPMAN AND SON, TINLEY PARK, ILLINOIS

News Among the Churches

Orland Park Churches

ST. MICHAEL CHURCH
The Rev. Wm. A. Gorey, Ph. L. Pastor

CHRIST LUTHERAN CHURCH

143rd & 100th Street,
Orland Park, Illinois.
Rev. A. Lach, Pastor.

Bible Hour and Sunday school at 9:00 a. m.

German services at 10:00 a. m. English preaching services are conducted every 2nd and 4th Sunday of the month.

On Ascension Day May 25, there will be English services in the evening at 7:45.

All our services are conducted according to Chicago Daylight Time. Strangers are always welcome.

ORLAND PARK M. E. CHURCH

John W. Mullen, Pastor.
10:00 a. m. Church school.

11:00 a. m. Divine Worship. At this service we shall have as our special guests, the soldier boys of the 40 & 8 home at Orland, also the Orland Park American Legion Post.

Friday evening, 7:30 o'clock, Senior choir rehearsal.

Saturday afternoon, 1:30, Junior choir rehearsal.

Saturday afternoon 1:30, Story Hour.

MOKENA CHURCHES

MOKENA M. E. CHURCH

Ralph M. Gray, pastor.
Morning worship at 10:00 a. m.

Sunday school at 11:00 a. m. Services held on Daylight Saving Time.

Friday evening, June 2nd, the Jubilee Singers of Joliet, will render a program in the church. Everybody welcome. A small admission charge will be asked.

ST. JOHN'S EVAN. CHURCH

E. J. Moritz, Pastor
Sunday school 9 a. m.

Church services 10 a. m. Brotherhood meeting Thursday June 1.

Pentecost service June 4 in the English instead of the German language. The Lord's Supper will be observed in this service.

Please bring your contribution to the Church Melting Pot. Contributions have come in fine and don't forget yours for it will mean much to our church. But please don't bring any junk. We thank you very heartily for your gifts.

ST. MARY CATHOLIC CHURCH

Rev. Father Roman, O. F. M.
Mass at regular hours.

IMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH

W. J. Geffert, Pastor
Sunday school 9 a. m.

Divine services 10 a. m. English services 1st, 3rd, 5th Sunday. German services 2nd and 4th Sunday.

FRANKFORT M. E. CHURCH

C. F. Schellhase, Pastor.
Miss Eva Jean Pfaff, Organist.

Mr. Wesley Hollstein, Sunday School Superintendent.

Divine Worship at 9:30 a. m. Standard Time.

Subject: "The Peace Makers." Epworth League at 7:30 p. m.

The Ladies Aid meeting has been postponed and will be held on the 8th of June at the home of Mrs. James Hunter. A noonday luncheon and outing will be enjoyed.

Choir rehearsal at 7:30 p. m. on GREEN GARDEN M. E. CHURCH

C. F. Schellhase, Pastor
C. F. Schellhase, Pastor

Miss Emma Andres, organist. Mr. Edwin Bettenhausen, Sunday school supt.

All meetings will be conducted on

Standard time schedule.

Sunday School at 9:45 a. m. Divine Worship at 10:45 a. m. Subject: "Memory-Duty." Choir rehearsal at 7:30 p. m. on Thursday.

TINLEY PARK CHURCHES

TINLEY PARK M. E. CHURCHES
Theodore A. Loeppert, Minister

Village church: Morning worship at 9:45 a. m. Sunday school at 10:45

Services at the country church as follows: Sunday school at 9:45; Morning worship at 10:45; Epworth League at 7:30 p. m.

ZION LUTHERAN CHURCH
Rev. Albert Buddenhagen, pastor

Sunday school 9 a. m. English services 10:30 a. m.

Thursday May 25 Ascension Day, Divine service in German at 7:45 p. m.

TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH

Oak Park Ave., & 159th Street
Rev. Wm. Greve, Pastor.

German services with the administration of Holy Communion are to be conducted next Sunday, the Sunday after the Ascension of Christ.

Confessional services begin at 9:30 o'clock, a. m., Daylight Saving Time.

The date of the Church and School Picnic was changed from June 18 to the Sunday previous, June 11, on account of the Church Anniversary at Sedan Prairie on the former date.

A "Church Melting Pot" receptacle will be placed in our Church next Sunday, May 28th, and remain there over Sunday, June 18th. Look through your closets, chests, bureau drawers, etc., for such articles as pieces of gold and silver jewelry, antique or modern, broken or whole, old dental crowns, sets and bridges, old spectacle frames, watches, trinkets - anything containing precious metal value - and such other articles as are enumerated on the enclosed list. Individually these pieces are of little value, but collectively, when gathered from all our members, a very substantial sum can be realized.

Search your own households and also ask your friends and relatives to join in this good work for what home is without such articles. Place small articles in an envelope; seal, sign and address. Larger articles should be marked with your name and address and presented wrapped or unwrapped. If for any reason you are unable to bring your offering to the Church and place it in the receptacle we will call for it. Notify The Ladies' Aid Society.

When the campaign is over the receptacle and its contents will be sent to the refiners and the Church will receive a check for the value of our gifts.

Make your contribution, whether it be large or small, with a prayer of blessing, and let us all share in making this campaign a real success. May God bless you in this ancient bit of history being repeated today in our modern world.

EVANGELICAL ST. PETERS CHURCH, GREEN GARDEN

G. W. Webbink
Divine services at 10: a. m.

ST. PETER'S EVAN. CHURCH

Rev. G. Gerhold, pastor
German Services at 8:30 a. m.

Sunday School at 9:30 a. m. English Services at 10:30 a. m.

Will Hold Clinic

There will be a clinic for chest examination on Wednesday, May 31, in the Public Health Council rooms, Joliet. Hours will be from 2 to 4 p. m., daylight saving time.